

Democrats See Business Gains In Revision of Taxing System

Think Measure Will Provide 'Substantial' Help
SUPPORT CHANGES
Believe Hardships 'Exaggerated' in Many Cases

Washington—(AP)—House ways and means committee Democrats said today the administration's new tax revision bill, by providing a well-balanced tax system, should bring about "a very substantial stimulation to business."

Backing up proposals to modify the undistributed profits tax, the Democrats said some of the complaints made against it were justified, but that hardships in many cases "seem to have been exaggerated."

"On the basis of the facts," they said in a formal report to the house, "your committee believes that the principle of the undistributed profits tax is sound and should be retained."

The Democrats said they believed a proposed new surtax on closely held corporations "will not create any serious hardship, and on the other hand, will protect the revenue."

They expressed a hope that modification of the capital gains levy would benefit persons interested in making long term investments and "will permit transactions to be made which are not prevented by the existing tax system."

Republicans Rap Plan
Striking at these three types of taxes in a separate report last night, the seven committee Republicans contended that in the "penalty" tax on large-income corporations owned by families or by from two to ten individuals, the administration had forged a "political weapon" to "purge" the business of some of its foes.

They said the measure was "vicious" and "iniquitous" because of the retention of the principle of levies that have contributed to the "Franklin D. Roosevelt depression."

Joining in the assault on the tax on closely held companies, two committee Democrats, McCormack of Massachusetts and Lammack of Ohio, said it "violates" all sound principles of taxation and its "effects are unfair and discriminatory."

Summarize Aims
The Democrats summarized the purposes of the bill in these words: "To improve our existing revenue system, to remove inequities, to accomplish the tax burden and to stimulate business activities, and to accomplish this without reducing the revenue which would be obtained by existing law under present conditions."

Asserting that not more than 300 to 600 corporations would be subject to the tax on closely held corporations, the Democrats said they considered the levy necessary "since it is clear that this class of corporations, in many cases, has accumulated unreasonable surpluses with a consequent loss of tax to the government from the shareholders."

McCormack and Lammack said other provisions of the bill constituted an improvement over existing law, but they listed 19 specific reasons for opposing the levy on closely held corporations.

They contended the levy would: Encourage monopoly, increase unemployment, retard business growth, conflict with sound business and government policies. The Republicans submitted their report to the house after the ways and means committee formally approved the legislation by a party vote of 17 to 7.

Democratic committeemen were drafting a reply to the minority complaints in a report of their own. Some of them have asserted the bill would stimulate business by removing or changing tax law provisions that have resulted in hardship and inequities.

Provisions of Bill
The bill, scheduled for house debate tomorrow, would:

SEEK FREEDOM OF MISSING BOY

It was reported that Murray Levine (left), prosperous attorney of New Rochelle, N. Y., had raised ransom demanded for the return of his son, Peter, 12, Louis Posner (right), New York attorney and friend of Levine, was designated as a "go-between" to negotiate with persons believed holding the boy.

Fears Increase for Safety of Missing Youth in New York

Federal Agents Start Investigation of Disappearance

New Rochelle, N. Y. —(AP)—A third kidnap note stipulating the payment of $60,000 ransom and accompanied by a pleading note in the handwriting of abducted 12-year-old Peter Levine was disclosed here today as investigators hung on the father's decision to make another radio appeal to the abductors.

The note was found Monday, it was learned, in a vacant lot next to the Bethel synagogue of Rabbi Abraham Nowak, after a mysterious telephone call directed him to the spot.

It demanded that the father, Murray Levine, a New York lawyer, make up a package of bank notes in $10, $20, $50 and $100 denominations and drop the package at the bases of a street light pole in E. 172nd street, the Bronx, New York city.

On the back, in handwriting identified as Peter's was scrawled the idea:

"Dear Dad: Please give these men the money. I have a bad cold, Peter."

New Rochelle, N. Y. —(AP)—Fear deepened today for the safety of missing 12-year-old Peter Levine as G-men began an active investigation into the boy's mysterious disappearance.

Cloaking all developments in secrecy, Murray Levine, New York attorney, refused to disclose whether he had paid a ransom or received direct word of the fate or whereabouts of his son.

Peter disappeared after leaving school last Thursday afternoon. The New York Daily News said it had learned federal agents were investigating a new ransom note supposedly demanding payment of $30,000 within 48 hours under threat of death to the boy.

"If this matter isn't taken care of within the time we set," the News said the note concluded, "we will have to get rid of him."

Flood Raging in California Area

Red Cross Workers Busy Removing Marooned Refugees

Los Angeles, Calif. —(AP)—One of the most severe storms in recent years brought dangerous flood conditions to southern California today.

Homes were isolated. The Red Cross worked to remove marooned refugees.

City and interurban traffic in many instances was halted as the streets and highways were transformed into torrents.

Houses were reported to be in a precarious condition in Santa Monica canyon in suburban Los Angeles.

More than a hundred families were moved out of the Venice district. The Red Cross was pushing rescue work in some sections of West Los Angeles.

Motorists who were unable to navigate Valley boulevard into the city reported that some swans from Lincoln park were swimming down the highway.

In downtown Los Angeles, storefronts were sandbagged for protection as streets ran curb-full with water.

Lifeguard boats were requested for a southwest district of the city, inundated to depths of four and five feet.

Collapsed retaining walls and landslides were reported at many points, one slide burying eight garages in mud.

$80,000 Damage Action Results From Accident

Fond du Lac —(AP)—Damage claims amounting to $80,000 against Patrick Bercler, Fond du Lac power shovel operator, and the Travelers Insurance company, Milwaukee, were filed late yesterday in circuit court as an aftermath of an automobile accident on Highway 55 last September. Members of the John Poy family, Fond du Lac, were slain.

'Punitive' Taxes Are Assailed at Senate Hearing

Washington —(AP)—Two witnesses told the senate unemployment committee today that the crux of all plans for business recovery lies in the abolition of "punitive" taxation.

Ralph E. Flanders, member of Commerce Secretary Roper's business advisory council, asserted that the family corporation levy in the new house tax bill and the undistributed profits tax "make the expansion of business and employment . . . inexcusably difficult."

From George H. Huston, Philadelphia, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, came a recommendation for repeal of the undistributed profits tax and amendment of the capital gains levy, both of which he classified as "punitive."

"The tax on undistributed income," said the tall, bald locomotive builder, "is having and will continue to have the effect of forcing an imprudent and exhausting distribution of corporate earnings during periods of prosperity without the accumulation of resources with which to continue such distribution during periods of depression."

"Instead of stabilizing security prices it will intensify their fluctuations. This tax should be repealed in its entirety."

Anti-Trust Laws Message Awaited

Roosevelt Expected to Ask Thorough Probe of Monopolies

Washington —(AP)—White House conferences on revising the anti-trust laws strengthened the belief of many legislators today that President Roosevelt would ask congress to undertake a thorough investigation of monopolies.

The president said yesterday he would submit an anti-trust message soon, but gave no approximate date. The general opinion on Capitol hill was that he would not advocate any new legislation until the inquiry was completed.

Consideration of specific bills thus would be deferred until next year, because congressional leaders hope for an early adjournment.

Such a course would be in line with the contention of many observers that the administration is avoiding any steps which might discourage an upturn in business.

At his press conference, the president replied to several questions regarding other business and labor problems.

Secretary Roper had informed him, Mr. Roosevelt said, that "self-help" was well high lacking in suggestions from small business men for combating the recession. The commerce department still is analyzing their proposals.

The president said he had no immediate changes in mind for the national labor relations act, but added it was an evolutionary law and he hoped it would be improved from time to time. He placed the social security and crop control acts in the same category.

Pershing Continues to Show 'Favorable Signs'

Tucson, Ariz. —(AP)—General John J. Pershing accumulated new strength from quiet sleep today to renew his almost miraculous progress against an illness which, though still critical, no longer brought fears of momentary death.

He slept heavily, as he did the previous night, and his condition showed "favorable signs" to Dr. Roland Davison.

His temperature was normal, he took food and fluids with little difficulty, and the absence of relapse was encouraging, Dr. Davison said.

The sanatorium was dark and quiet during the night. Miss May Pershing, the 77-year-old World war commander's only sister, retired early. His son, Warren and nephew Frank drove to Tucson, spending several hours in the city.

Continued improvement of the kidney function and elimination of poison from the general system was a decided factor in his rally. His heart was notably weakened by attempting to throw off the poison.

Half Billion For Air Force, British Plan

London Program Is Scheduled to be Launched April 1

90,000 ARE EMPLOYED
Government Determined To Have Best Air Fleet in World

London —(AP)—The British government told its taxpayers today its vast five-year re-armament plan would cost even more than the originally-planned $7,500,000,000 and warned them to expect still larger bills for defense.

Earlier, an air ministry memorandum disclosed that Britain will spend more than $500,000,000 on her air force alone in the year beginning April 1—an indication of the towering cost of Britain's determination to forge an impregnable defense of her empire.

London —(AP)—Tossing more fuel into the roaring re-armament furnace, Britain will spend more than a half billion dollars on her air force in the year beginning April 1.

Air estimates announced today totaled $111,502,000 or $557,510,000—allowing for purchase of planes, construction, maintenance, borrowed money, interests, etc.

Technically the figure was put at $73,500,000 or $367,500,000, as against $56,500,000 or $282,500,000 last year. This total is the estimate for specific and apparent expenses on the air force.

The larger figure, however, taking in interest charges, etc., shows the real measure of British spending to make the British air force the world's best.

The figures, released by coincidence on the heels of German Field Marshal Goering's boastful assertion yesterday that the German air force would be "awful in action" if war should come, included expenditures for the fleet air arm—planes attached to the naval fleet.

The indication of Britain's feverish re-arming came from Viscount Swinton, secretary of state for air, in a memorandum accompanying estimates that the number of persons employed in the aircraft industry had increased from 30,000 in 1935 to a present 90,000. The did not include persons employed in the production of armament or other equipment.

Parliamentary approval of the estimates was regarded largely as a technicality, although they will

Asks for Jury Trial On Charge of Larceny

Chicago —(AP)—Douglas E. Brown, 32, a broker, asked a jury trial and was given a continuance until April 6 when he was arraigned today in criminal court on a charge of larceny as bailor.

His attorney, Donald McFadden, said he asked the delay to prepare a defense and possibly to effect a settlement.

Brown was held at the county jail after arraignment in lieu of $5,000 bond. His residence is in suburban Hinsdale.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin said a business associate of Brown, Lucian Williams, a stock exchange member, was the complainant.

Austin said the charge was that Brown gave Williams a safekeeping receipt for $5,000 in bonds, supposedly to keep them in a safe, and that he disposed of the bonds and spent the proceeds.

Sauk County Is Given Custody of 4 Suspects

Richland Center, Wis. —(AP)—Sheriff Ben McClaren of Richland county said today he had relinquished custody of two men and two women, whom he arrested on vagrancy charges, to Sauk county authorities for prosecution on charges of armed robbery.

The suspects were taken to Baraboo by Sheriff Gus Erickson for arraignment on charges of robbing William Stippleburg, Sauk county farmer, three weeks ago. A shot was fired during the hold up, McClaren said. The amount of loot was not disclosed.

Sheriff McClaren identified the suspects as Nellie Holt and Mrs. Elsie Ewers, Richland Center, Louis Holt, Richland Center, and Kenneth Stippleburg, Sauk county. He said Kenneth Stippleburg was a nephew of the hold up victim.

Pastor Niemoeller Given Seven Month Sentence but Already Has Served It

Berlin —(AP)—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, for five years a zealous leader of Protestant church opposition to German government regulation, was sentenced today to seven months imprisonment but time already spent in jail canceled the sentence.

Niemoeller was convicted of speaking against leaders of the reich and of violating pulp regulations. A third charge, of inciting to disobedience against the state, previously had been dropped.

He must go to jail, however, for three months unless he pays a $600 fine for speaking disparagingly of leading personages of the reich.

Time already served was held also to have paid a $200 fine for

Airliner and 9 Persons are Lost in West

Fear Large Plane Crashed During Storm in Mountain Area

MYSTERY MESSAGE
Doubt Radio Communication Was From Missing Aircraft

San Francisco —(AP)—A strange message saying "We are all safe, but very uncomfortable," which was heard by an Oakland family when a commercial radio program "faded" today, caused an investigation by a department of commerce inspector on the chance it came from the missing TWA plane.

Alvin Smith, Oakland inspector for the department, said J. A. Damm told him he believed he and his family had heard a message from the plane, which disappeared near Fresno.

The inspector said he did not believe the message was from the missing plane.

Los Angeles, Calif. —(AP)—Search by air and land began today for the big TWA skyliner which disappeared last night with nine persons aboard during a severe storm.

Driving rain hindered the hunt but Jack Schneider, Fresno commercial aviator, finally got a searching plane aloft.

Ground parties trudged through the wild Huntington lake area east of Fresno, the apparent route the lost plane took in efforts to escape the storm's fury.

The Transcontinental and Western airplane was bound from San Francisco to Albuquerque, N. M., by way of Los Angeles and was last reported at 9:16 last night (11:16 p. m. C. S. T.).

Pilot John D. Graves, turning back from a Tehachapi crossing at 10,000 feet because of ice conditions radioed he was north of Bakersfield and acknowledged instructions to land at that city.

It was the last word from the storm-buffed plane.

The last word from Pilot Graves was at 9:29 p. m. when he talked with Lawrence J. Woodward, TWA ratioman at the San Francisco airport.

"He said he was flying by instrument at 10,000 feet," Woodward said, "and was descending for a landing at Fresno."

Fresno is about 100 miles north of Bakersfield.

Hunt Assailant Of Farmer, Son

Father and Boy Wounded While Milking Cows On Farm

Arena, Wis. —(AP)—While Iowa county authorities searched for their assailant, Earl Murphy, 44, town of Arena farmer, and his 6-year-old son, Harland, were receiving treatment at a Madison hospital today for gunshot wounds inflicted while they were milking cows.

Attendants at St. Mary's hospital said the father was wounded in the knee and the boy was shot in the thigh. Their condition was described as good.

Murphy, who said he could give no reason for the shooting, said he and Harland were shot about 7:30 last night while they and another son, Donald, 10, were working in the barn. He said four shots were fired from outside. Donald escaped injury.

Sheriff Verl Poole of Dodgeville traced fresh automobile tracks from the farm toward Barneveld on the Night Hollow road, and said he would continue an investigation in the vicinity of Barneveld today.

Murphy told authorities an unknown person set fire to his barn last Labor day.

The sheriff said a small caliber rifle or revolver was used by the gunman. Although the bullet that hit Harland pierced the thigh, officials hoped to recover the slug from Murphy's knee for possible ballistics tests.

Pennsylvanian Causes Uproun in Lower House

Washington —(AP)—Representative Rich (R-Pa.) threw the house into an uproar today by shouting at the top of his lungs that President Roosevelt never had done a day of work in his life.

Democrats snapped back, with Representative McCormack (D-Mass.) asserting it was "very unwise, highly improper and decidedly unethical for anyone to attack or impugn the president of the United States."

In the center of the dispute was a proposal by Representative Scrugham (D-Nev.) to boost from $100,000 to $350,000 an item for the Provo river reclamation project, in Utah, in the interior department appropriation bill.

Rich jumped up to roar his objections, denounce administration spending policies and assail the president. He yelled so loudly his words for the most part were unintelligible.

Election Officers Must Be Appointed on Basis Of Presidential Ballot

Nazi Heads Want Austria to Change Vatican Concordat

Distribute Handbills Asailing Catholic Church

Graz, Austria —(AP)—Nazi leaders in this center of Austrian nazidom advanced a demand today that the traditionally Catholic nation modify its relations with the Vatican.

"The concordat must be changed," they said, as the Nazi-inclined minister of interior, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, continued efforts to mollify the excited national socialists.

Handbills assailing the church were distributed. They did not, however, ask specific changes in the concordat or set forth the Nazi reason for wishing to alter church-state relations.

Seyss-Inquart, whose appointment to the Austrian cabinet last month was approved by Germany's Fuehrer Hitler, came here to the welcome of an estimated 20,000 Nazis who paraded noisily through the city last night by torchlight. Police and soldiers did not interfere.

Has Difficult Task
Seyss-Inquart had before him the delicate problem of satisfying, on the one hand, the Nazis bent on complete union and Hitlerization of Austria; on the other, Chancellor Schuschnigg's program to coax the Nazis into his fatherland front party, with the condition that they strive wholeheartedly for independence.

Principal Nazi demands presented to Seyss-Inquart were for legal rights to belong to the Nazi party (the fatherland front is Austria's sole legal party), permission for a Nazi membership drive to serve as a plebiscite on the nation's wishes, and a ban on socialist and communist organization.

The Graz Nazis, claiming 92 per cent of the Styria provincial government officials and 82 per cent of city officials, were determined to attain more power "without Berlin, if need be," they declared.

Hope For Compromise
There was hope, nevertheless, that Seyss-Inquart, in his position as friendly to Hitler and a member of the Austrian government, might effect a compromise.

While it was a Nazi day in Styria, in other provinces there were signs of an upsurge in Chancellor Schuschnigg's popularity.

From Innsbruck and Salzburg came reports the fatherland fronters enthusiastically were organizing patriotic demonstrations for the coming week. In Vienna there was a feminine rally to Schuschnigg with the "Frauenschaft" of the front determined on a demonstration March 4.

U. S. Court Sentences Butternut Bank Bandits

Superior —(AP)—Leo Lepinski, 23, convicted of robbing the Butternut, Wis., bank of $806, today faced 12 years' imprisonment in a federal penitentiary.

His accomplice, Edward Zblewski, was under a five-year sentence to the federal industrial school for boys.

In addition, Lepinski was under a $500 fine.

Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone pronounced judgment immediately after a jury convicted Lepinski yesterday. Zblewski previously had pleaded guilty, but sentence was deferred pending Lepinski's trial.

The government charged Lepinski and Zblewski, both of Polonia Wis., plotted the Butternut robbery last Oct. 25 and carried it out the next day.

Facing the court before sentence was passed, Lepinski declared "the whole story about me was framed." The court remarked the jury had "justly found" him guilty.

The court also sentenced Fred Nornberg, 32, of Polonia, who had pleaded guilty to aiding Zblewski in the $36 robbery of the Bancroft, Wis., bank. He was ordered to federal prison for two concurrent terms of 10 years.

Nearly 60 Affected by Gas From Leaking Main

Everett, Mass. —(AP)—Leaking gas from a 6-inch main affected nearly 60 persons in the Woodlawn section of Everett today and sent eight to a hospital.

Between 75 and 85 persons were driven from their homes temporarily. In addition to the eight taken to the hospital, approximately 50 reported they had been affected in varying degrees, from choking to semi-unconsciousness.

At one time five inhalators were in use as doctors, police and firemen worked to revive those stricken. Of those sent to the hospital, five were discharged after treatment and three were held.

Chicago —(AP)—Howard O. Hunter, Midwest regional director of the works progress administration, announced last night 216,000 of the 500,000 new WPA jobs created in Washington yesterday would go to 13 middle western states.

He said projects already were set up to absorb the new quota, and that additional relief workers would be placed on the pay rolls immediately.

Hunter announced the following quota increases for the states under his jurisdiction: Michigan, from 74,500 to 113,500; Wisconsin, from 74,500 to 113,500; Illinois, from 74,500 to 113,500.

Statement Adds to Mystery in Fatal Shooting of Bride

Delavan, Ill. —(AP)—A new element of mystery entered the fatal shooting of a beautiful bride of five weeks today when E. W. Ringo, a merchant policeman, said he and the village's night patrolman were near the scene of the slaying in response to a telephone summons.

Ringo said he and Policeman R. T. Burbridge were told of the presence of snappers at the home of Banker Willis Crabb, where Mrs. Betty Crabb, his daughter-in-law, was shot to death early yesterday.

The officers were standing in the yard of the palatial home when they heard a shot, Ringo said. He stated the elder Crabb was talking from a window to Burbridge when the report was heard and both officers rushed into the house to find the 19-year-old bride dead of a bullet wound in the chest.

Coroner Nelson Wright, who has not set a date for the inquest, said the bullet apparently was fired from an old-style .45 caliber revolver he said was on the bedroom floor beside the body.

Young Crabb told authorities he was in the bathroom getting his wife some aspirin when he heard the shot.

House Committee Refuses to Limit Naval Operations

Votes, 16 to 6, Against Ohioans Plan to Establish Frontier

Washington —(AP)—The house naval committee refused today to restrict the navy's operations in the Pacific and Atlantic oceans to a definite area.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), announced the committee had voted, 16 to 6, against an amendment by Representative Kniffin (D-Ohio) which would have established a definite naval frontier beyond which the navy would not be permitted to operate.

The chairman said he expected the committee to complete consideration of the $1,171,000,000 naval expansion program tomorrow.

The present London consultations among the United States, Britain and France, officials said today, will clear the way for Germany and Russia to build larger warships.

The clause limiting the size of battleships to 35,000 tons the Russian treaty is more vague because soviet officials will not discuss any limitation of their Asiatic fleet.

Italy also can build bigger ships. Bound by no pact, she is the freest large nation in Europe as far as treaty limitations are concerned. Britain and France are bound, together with the United States, by the treaty of 1936.

Communication of the results of the London consultations to Germany, Washington observers believe, will have the effect of passing this information on to Japan.

British Treaties
This is by virtue of the naval treaties Great Britain has with those two nations.

The first treaty, which limits the German navy to 35 per cent of the British navy, also contains a qualitative clause limiting the size of battleships to 35,000 tons.

Charge Pendergast Paid Republicans In Vote Agreement

Sensational Testimony Offered in Kansas City Trial

Kansas City—(7)—Sensational testimony that James Pendergast had provided money to pay Republicans in "an agreement" to countenance a "big pad"—padded Democratic registration rolls—was written into Kansas City's eleventh vote fraud trial records today.

The federal court jury also heard that a Democratic worker said the T. J. "Boss" Pendergast Democratic organization had contributed to G. O. P. campaign funds in return for acceptance of "ghost votes."

It was the first time Pendergast's name had been written into the records at any of the fraud trials.

The testimony from Mrs. Elva O'Byrne, Republican committee woman, who pleaded guilty to vote fraud conspiracy and became a government witness. Eight other Republicans and Democrats are on trial.

Mrs. O. Byrne testified that at a conference with Democratic workers she and Lester L. Aulgur, Republican committeeman, received $100 each not to challenge "padded Democratic registration." She said Aulgur told Mrs. Frances S. Ryan, Democratic committee woman "we (Republicans) needed some money to pay our workers for their dinners."

Promised Money

"And Matt Devoe spoke up and said... each ward was to get $500 Republican campaign money for their ward that day" from the Democratic organization.

Devoe is a Pendergast party worker in the Twelfth ward. He has not been charged. Mrs. Ryan is a co-defendant in this trial. Aulgur is charged separately.

Mrs. Byrne said the meeting was in the office of Mrs. Ryan, superintendent of the Jackson County "Parental school and known as Kansas City's only woman 'ward boss.'"

The witness said Mrs. Ryan told her and Aulgur "I had a hard time getting this money ($200); I had to make two trips to see Jimmy Pendergast."

James Pendergast, T. J.'s nephew, directed the Pendergast organization through the 1936 elections, when his uncle was critically ill in New York.

Mrs. O'Byrne, mother of three girls between 12 and 20 years old and wife of a packing company employee, further testified:

"More Than Pleased"

"Mrs. Ryan said to me that Jimmy Pendergast had told them to give the Republicans 2,500 votes in the Twelfth ward and we had given them only 1,300 and 1,400. She said he said 'I didn't like it but that she could tell by his actions he was more than pleased.'"

Mrs. O'Byrne told the jury Mrs. Ryan also paid her and Aulgur $20 each for replacing Republican judges objectionable to the Democrats with other Republicans "who would not do too much investigating of the pads" (padded Democratic registration rolls).

Kansas City's registration for the March primary, under a new bipartisan election board, is approximately 200,000. In the 1936 presidential election, 256,000 votes were counted, of which 190,000 were Democratic.

Fifty Democrats and Republicans have been convicted of the 1936 vote frauds; nearly 150 others, indicted, await trials.

reason to doubt that a purpose of the proposed tax on closely-held corporations was to "provide the administration with a means of retaliation against certain corporations controlled by a few individuals and who have resisted certain New Deal policies with which they do not agree."

The Washington Post said in a copyrighted article that a poll of the senate finance committee showed 13 of the 21 members favored complete repeal of the undivided corporate profits tax. The committee will study the bill after the house passes it.

In the senate chamber, members heard new arguments for and against the administration's government reorganization bill. The measure was assailed yesterday by Senator Byrd (D-Va.), who contended it would give the president far-reaching policy-making powers now held by congress.

The house continued debate on the interior department appropriations bill.

Don't Be a Road Hog

Farms of State Producing Millions in Furs Each Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The rough and ready fur merchants who traveled the Fox and Wolf rivers two hundred years ago to barter trinkets for valuable skins and furs for the New York and European markets would gape with amazement if they could see today Wisconsin farmers raising better furs along with dairy products on treeless farm acres.

They probably would be envious too for the Wisconsin farmers of two centuries later are making more money in the fur business than they did, although Wisconsin's original fur industry founded many million dollar fortunes.

For on the authority of the Wisconsin conservation department, Wisconsin farms are producing more than $20,000,000 worth of fur annually, many times more than the pioneers who made the fur trade a major industry in virgin Wisconsin.

While wild-trapped fur, accounting for about one million dollars a year, provides many a Wisconsin farm boy and farmer a profitable side-line, the bulk of Wisconsin fur row comes from pen-raised animals.

Leader in Nation

Wisconsin citizens have long been taught that their state is first in many lines of production, including cheese, milk, and other dairy products. Fur is another. The state produces at present 40 per cent of the silver fox furs of the nation and 50 per cent of the mink furs, which are the most important varieties raised commercially on a large scale.

The largest fur ranches in the world are in Wisconsin, among them the internationally known Fromm brothers ranch in Marathon county, but small producers—farmers raising fur animals as a sideline—still raise the bulk of the annual output of the state.

According to the conservation department, fur raising is still an infant industry. Silver fox farming has developed in the last 30 years. There was a period of boom and speculation, and for a time the business was tagged with a bad name as a result of unscrupulous racketeers. But today, according to the state and federal governments, fur farming has become a permanent phase of the nation's agricultural industry, and especially Wisconsin's.

The fur industry has been confronted with serious problems, particularly the diseases which ravage penned animals.

Experimental Farm

To assist the fur industry of the state in conquering disease, and to study diseases of Wisconsin's wild life in general, the state established the experimental game and fur farm at Poyette.

Large commercial ranches employ their own experts, but the smaller breeder is dependent on whatever outside aid he can get. At the farm maintained by the state, thousands of animals are examined annually to determine the cause of the fur farmer's troubles and to present a solution if possible. Intensive research is now underway on several baffling disease of fur animals, and this study program will be carried further under a cooperative research project set up by the conservation department and the University of Wisconsin.

Although disease is a serious problem, the conservation department points to a recent study by the federal department of agriculture which suggests that the nation now supplies only one third of the furs which the American market demands, and that the future of the business is thus bright.

Rival Groups in State G. O. P. to End Family Row

Hope to Bury Hatchet so Work Can Be Started On 1938 Campaign

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The family row which has occupied Wisconsin Republicans, and particularly the Milwaukee county element of the party, will probably be settled soon at a meeting of the official state central committee and the state voluntary committee of the party, it was disclosed here Tuesday.

Edward J. Samp, who is head of the voluntary group has stirred up some resentment from the regular party organization, and especially in the Milwaukee metropolitan district, said Tuesday that his committee will meet shortly with the regular state committee, headed by William Knauf of Chilton, to iron out their differences.

Early Controversy

Controversy between the factions within the party has subjected the state G. O. P. to considerable outside criticism lately. Many party sympathizers believe that now is the time to begin an active campaign with the aim of winning state offices in 1938. Instead, critics are saying, the party leaders are wasting time quarreling among themselves.

Cause of the squabbling has been the activity of Samp and his voluntary committee, which has no legal standing, and which is a relic of the days of the LaFollette control of the regular organization.

Before 1934 the LaFollette Progressives element was frequently powerful enough to take over the regular party organization. In self-defense the anti-LaFollette Republicans, or stalwarts, formed their own committees, which is the voluntary committee of today.

Want Convention

Samp as chairman of that group has for many months been active in forming a new Republican state organization, a federation on a membership basis, with local chapter units in all of the important counties. His leadership in this project has antagonized some of the regular committee leaders, who feel that party affairs are their province. Samp replies that his work was outlined at the 1936 convention of the party.

Along with demands for abolition of the voluntary group altogether, there has been considerable sentiment for an early convention, preparatory to the regular meeting next June, in order to get the party campaign for the year off to an early and energetic start.

Resignation of Cyrus Phillips as state chairman was believed to be a preliminary to such a plan. But to date his resignation, Vice chairman Knauf of Chilton has not indicated that this is to be carried out.

Samp reported here yesterday that he is keeping an eye on the Fox river valley counties, where the party hopes to reap a bountiful electoral harvest in the fall elections.

Army, navy estimates are forthcoming tomorrow and Friday, respectively.

Viscount Swinton gave assurances of "specific achievements" in revising new methods of defense against air raids, but said they must be kept secret.

Between April, 1935, and March, 1938, Swinton said; 4,500 pilots, 40,000 mechanics and ground men and other employees had joined the royal air force, an annual average of more than 1,500 pilots and 13,000 other workers.

"Expansion requirements necessitate acquisition of 59 new air-dromes, of which 30 already are occupied," the air minister reported.

He asserted "re-arming will be substantially completed during the financial year."

Students Hold Debate On Washington Program

Pupils of the Jefferson school, town of Bovina, held a mothers' visiting day last week in observance of Washington's birthday anniversary. A short program was given after several afternoon classes were held. The upper grades gave a debate on "Which Was the Better Man, Washington or Lincoln."

Pupils perfect in attendance during the last six weeks were Harley Beyer, Kenneth Beyer, Ilene Schultz and Melvin Schultz, according to Miss Gertrude Laird, teacher.

His war record was second to none. As a submarine commander, he won the highest possible decoration, the "pour le merite."

In the turbulent last five years he has been under arrest repeatedly, has submitted to frequent searches of his parish house and his private apartment. His wires were tapped, his mail opened, secret service agents took notes when he preached, a bomb was thrown into his parsonage in 1934, and he even was trailed on errands.

Niemöller disobeyed the church ministry's decree that names of men quitting the church must not be read from the pulpit; and he solicited funds to finance the anti-Nazi fight of the Confessional synod, the majority group of Protestant churches, which had been forbidden by government decree.

Wisconsin Overwhelms New York in Historical Battle of Cheeses Today

BY RUBY A. BLACK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington, D. C. — Wisconsin cheese went over the top in the "battle of the scentury" today and claimed overpowering victory over its New York rivals. Wisconsin's cheese army was vastly stronger than New York's in numbers, in quality, in leadership, in propaganda, and in food supplies.

When at zero hour arrived, Wisconsin twins led the parade down the little red lane of everyman's digestive tract, followed by a Swiss flag-thrower, a Swiss block, flinging a Wisconsin banner. Next came a Swiss wheel, yodeling a battle cry, followed by a brick—we'll say he's a brick—bearing an "on Wisconsin" banner. A plump Edam, and a drum-beating and "yip-ee-ing" Longhorn. Then came Italian recruits, and last came Limburger, his nose buried in a large bouquet held in his right hand while his left—lavishly sprayed perfume from an atomizer.

The recession was immediately relieved by the Wisconsin victory. The senate restaurants hired four extra men to carry great trays of Wisconsin cheeses to every diner in the four senate restaurants.

The basic steel industry was aided by the purchase of knives to carve the two hundred pound Swiss wheel—displayed during the luncheon hour in the senators' private refectory—for distribution among the starving employed newspaper correspondents, who yesterday had a free lunch of Louisiana food donated by Sen. Ellender, and took home to their hungry families pint cans of Rhode Island oysters furnished by Sen. Glass.

Vice President Jack Garner of Texas, who is a sheep rancher, was introduced to a "real longhorn" by Sen. F. Ryan Duffy, general of the Wisconsin army. Garner is not too happy because he realizes that hereafter March 2 will be known as Wisconsin cheese victory day instead of Texas independence day.

The radio carried the story over ninety stations at 12:00 to 12:20 on the farm and home hour, told by Gen. Duffy and Gen. Royal S. Copeland of New York, who has only himself to blame because he

Remodeling Cost For Old School Set at $30,000

Smith and Brandt Firm Gets Contract to Draw Plans

Smith and Brandt, Appleton architectural firm, was awarded a contract for preparing plans and specifications for the remodeling of the old senior high school building by the board of education at a regular meeting last night.

George Smith, member of the firm, told the board that the remodeling would cost about $30,000. The firm will receive $1,800 for its work.

The firm also was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for new lighting fixtures at the new senior high school building for a fee of 4 per cent of the total cost which has not yet been determined.

Physical education will be required of all senior high school pupils beginning with the next term, the board decided. This action makes it possible for the school to obey the state law requiring regular physical education, since it was passed in 1931. One-half credit per year will be allowed for the class.

Required Subject

Social science, now offered as an elective subject, also will be required of all sophomores twice a week beginning next fall and one-half credit will be allowed for the subject. The number of high school credits for graduation will be increased from 12 to 14 to allow for the extra 1 1/2 credits in physical education and the half credit in social science.

The board will cooperate with the George D. Eggleston Relief corps in the selection of a suitable patriotic memorial to be presented to the senior high school.

Mrs. Ruth Saecker Wolf was named biology teacher for the remainder of the school term to succeed David Bent.

Permission was granted the auxiliary to the American Medical association to use the high school auditorium on Friday evening, April 22.

Clerk Explains Absentee Voting

Ballots Must be Mailed to Reach City Hall Before March 15

Ballots of absentee voters in the primary election must be mailed so that they will reach city hall not later than March 15, City Clerk Carl J. Becher said today.

The procedure used for absentee voting was explained by the clerk who said: "Residents, who expect to be out of the city on election day, should send requests for ballot applications and ballots will be mailed."

The application for a ballot must be completely filled out, signed before a notary public and returned to the city clerk. On receipt of the application, ballots will be mailed.

When the ballots are received by the voter, they should be marked in the presence of a notary public, placed in the accompanying envelope and mailed to the clerk. The ballot requires the signature of the voter and a notary public.

Voters who expect to be out of the city on election day may cast their vote at the city clerk's office anytime before March 15.

Wisconsin Overwhelms New York in Historical Battle of Cheeses Today

brought up the fact that New York makes some cheese and by giving away small portions of three kinds, all bearing the brand of the same processor.

In the jubilation of victory, the Wisconsin army sent a fine cheese to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, whose life story, according to Wallace's own state, Iowa, and partly edited by a former Wisconsin man, "Red" Mich. may be told in "along walks, mathematics, and cheese."

Nor should they be forgotten, as heroes of the fragrant battlefield, the daisies, the loafs, the munters, the pineapples, the canembert, and the cream.

New York could claim victory on only one small sector—the bribe—and yet this veteran food war correspondent never saw bribe on New York's day. Indeed, my spies tell me there is no such sector. But maybe they have been taken in by the vast Wisconsin propaganda machine.

And to think it all started because four senators telephoned Duffy on New York's cheese day to kid him about his constant claims concerning Wisconsin's world-supremacy in cheese. Of such little things are wars made, especially when the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets, the National Cheese Institute with its well-known advertising agency, and the Wisconsin congressional delegation are challenged to bring on their legions of cheeses.

Boileau Still in Doubt About Race

Hasn't Made Up His Mind About Going After Duffy's Job

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—Congressman Gerald J. Boileau, Wausau Progressive, hasn't made up his mind yet on whether he will be a candidate for the progressive nomination for senator to fight it out with Sen. F. Ryan Duffy, Fond du Lac Democrat, in the election.

After his exploratory trip to Wisconsin, he says he has come to no conclusion.

But he is still "available." He denies daily that Governor Philip F. LaFollette told him he must serve his party and his state by running for re-election to the house of representatives.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., says all the talk about senatorial candidates is "just newspaper talk" so far, that he doesn't know a thing. It's an open primary, and anybody can go into it, he says.

Nevertheless, Badgers in Washington are watching closely Adjutant General Ralph M. Imnell's travels through the state, which they construe as evidence of a desire to capture the progressive nomination for senator.

Duffy just smiles at it all. Boileau seems to think that he could defeat Duffy. But he isn't too anxious to make a costly primary campaign to be followed by a costly election campaign.

Anyhow, Wisconsin congressmen are talking about the "peace vote," the "veterans' vote," the "farm vote," and are worrying about signs of a progressive split. None seem worried about their own seats in congress.

Forty-three workers, 23 in Appleton and 20 in Kaukauna, will be added to the WPA pay rolls this week, according to Lyle Webster, supervising timekeeper. The additional quota will increase the number of WPA workers in Kaukauna, Little Chute and Appleton to 323. The new workers in Appleton will be employed on the Franklin and Winnebago street sewer jobs. The increase at Kaukauna will provide men for landscaping and building a wall at the pumping station at Kaukauna.

Seek High Court Ruling on Payment Of Drainage Debts

Districts Want Cash for Certificates Held by Counties

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Twenty-two Wisconsin counties already beset with more than their share of financial troubles will find it impossible to convert into cash nearly $4,000,000 in delinquent tax certificates obtained at exclusive tax sales, the Wisconsin County Boards association declares in a brief on file today with the state supreme court.

As a friend of the court, the association entered the case of two farm drainage districts in Columbia county against the Columbia county treasurer and county board of supervisors who have refused to account to the drainage boards in cash for delinquent drainage assessments obtained by the county in exclusive bidding in 1937.

In two actions brought by the drainage districts against the county, in which a declaratory judgment was sought determining if the duty of the county to account for the certificates immediately in cash, Circuit Judge C. F. Van Pelt overruled demurrers by the county and ruled in favor of the drainage corporations.

In its appeal to the supreme court, the Columbia county board declares that the drainage assessments are not obligations of the counties, that the county is merely an agency for the collection of the assessments, and that the county is not liable for settlement until the delinquent assessments have actually been collected.

Declaring the issue is of importance to all county officials in Wisconsin, the County Boards association's brief points out that it will be impossible for many counties to account for the certificates they now hold until they have actually been collected.

Relied on Opinion
Counties have until now relied on an opinion of the attorney general, says the association, which held that counties are not liable to drainage districts until the drainage assessment payment is in the county vaults in cash.

Counties in late years have been forced to become exclusive bidders at tax sales because of the lack of bidding at public sales, and because the bidding is usually limited to a few choice certificates.

At stake in the case, which is expected to be decided by the supreme court March 15, are $3,768,498 in tax certificates which 22 counties obtained through exclusive bidding. Among them are Kewaunee, Manitowish, Marinette, Oconto, Waupaca and Winnebago, according to A. J. Thelen, the association's secretary.

Trial of Harold Best Scheduled for March 21

Madison—(P)—Carl N. Hill, attorney for Harold Best, 15, who is in custody of Crawford county officials at Prairie du Chien on a delinquency charge, said Tuesday the youth's trial will begin before Circuit Judge Sherman E. Smalley on March 21.

Hill said the trial, originally set for March 9, was postponed because Judge Smalley had other cases set for that date. Hill's request for a jury trial has been granted, he said.

The youth was taken into custody June 5, a day following the death of his sister, Mildred, 11, who was shot with a small caliber rifle in the home of relatives at Soldiers Grove.

Kaukauna Collects $39.20 From U. S. for Damaged Lamp Post

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Several Wisconsin persons and some Wisconsin cities will be compensated for damages done them by government agents when the deficiency appropriation bill just passed by Congress is signed by the President.

For example:
The city of Kaukauna's electrical and water departments will get $39.20 for damage to a lamp post caused by a CCC truck when it skidded on the ice, Jan. 28, 1937, while trying to avoid a collision.

Bruck L. Kimball, Oconto, will get $8 (he asked for $12) for damage to his parked car by a CCC truck on June 2, 1936.

Congress Ponders Bill For Helping Disabled

Washington—Federal aid to states in training their disabled men and women to be self-supporting will be greatly liberalized if congress passes a bill just introduced by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., Wisconsin Progressive.

The bill would increase the appropriation for aid to the states by 150 per cent, authorizing $3,000,000 during the first fiscal year in which it is in effect, $4,000,000 the second year, and $5,000,000 a year thereafter. The states must match the funds allotted to them.

It also would extend the scope of the measure to include those disabled by heart disease, tuberculosis, is, blindness, and deafness. Under present ruling only those disabled by accidents or by orthopedic disabilities can be given aid in vocational rehabilitation.

One of the most important new features of the measure is the provision that 20 per cent of the funds may be used for living maintenance of those taking training, if they are needy and could not otherwise take advantage of the offered training.

12,000 Badgers Left in Want, Schneider Says

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Even with the new $500,000 appropriation for relief in the country as a whole, around 12,000 Wisconsin people "in need" will not be cared for, Congressman George J. Schneider of Appleton estimates, after scanning Wisconsin figures and WPA figures.

This fund is added to the $545,000,000 available for use through June 30, 1938.

There were, Schneider says, 48,600 on WPA in Wisconsin during the week ended Feb. 12, the latest available report.

"However," he adds, "the total need in Wisconsin is estimated at 25,000."

"The Washington WPA office expects that 10,000 to 13,000 would be given jobs under the supplemental appropriation of $250,000,000. This would still leave 12,000 to 15,000 people in need in Wisconsin."

"Progressives fought for more WPA funds, but met defeat on their goal for at least $400,000,000."

Waupaca Man Named on Poultry Congress Board

Plott of the Fairmont Creamery company of Green Bay, Frank Radford, Oshkosh, manufacturer, August Cleerman, Green Bay hatcheryman, and Ben Dance of Waupaca.

The Outlook Abroad

Although nothing is as yet clear or certain, there are better reasons now than there were at the beginning for thinking that the events of the past fortnight do not necessarily preclude the collapse of the resistance to the designs of the Berlin-Berlin-Tokyo combination.

At the eastern end of it, in Japan, there is unmistakable evidence that the new American foreign policy has made an impression, that the President and Secretary Hull are on their way toward making the Japanese authorities realize that the expansion of the navy is meant seriously. In Central Europe the reports of Hitler's triumphant march through Austria, Czechoslovakia and Rumania have proved to be at least premature.

In France the rumors of disunion, collapse and even of civil war have proved to be false, and the notion that France is a negligible power has been shown, as so often in the past, to be one of the perennial illusions entertained by foreigners about the French democracy. In regard to the Anglo-Italian negotiations and the Eden-Chamberlain crisis which accompanied it, this much at least is now evident, that Mr. Chamberlain is not able to sell the pass, even if he ever had any intention of selling it.

Austria Most Critical Point At The Moment

The most critical point at the moment is, of course, Austria. The critical question there would appear to be whether the Austrian Nazis can and will precipitate a civil war. For this would provide Hitler with an opportunity for armed intervention on the general pattern of the Italian intervention in Spain.

Short of that, there is good enough reason for thinking that Dr. Schuschnigg may be able to withstand the pressure and to make good his pledge to maintain the independence of his country under the constitution of 1934. By American standards that constitution provides a kind of dictatorship. But it is a very different sort of dictatorship from that in the fascist countries. It is almost certainly a defensive dictatorship, a true case of concentration of power in order to deal with an extreme national danger. It is a conservative dictatorship set up to maintain the essentials of a civilized European state and not a revolutionary dictatorship by fanatics and adventurers.

Schuschnigg Appears To Have An Advantage

For dealing with the Nazi penetration the dictatorship of Dr. Schuschnigg would appear to have a real advantage over a democratic form of government. As long as it controls the army and the police, the Austrian Nazis, whether they be a minority or even a majority, are as unable to prevail as the opposition in Germany or in Italy. Dr. Schuschnigg appears to be well aware of this. For when he made his concession to Hitler in appointing a Nazi Minister of the Interior, he kept in his own hands the control of the Vienna police and of the Austrian army.

The question is whether he can suppress any uprising by Austrian Nazis. If he can, if he can avoid a civil war, there is little likelihood that Hitler will actually make a frontal attack on Austria and invade it. The only way Hitler can get into Austria is by the back door, by giving surreptitious support to Austrian Nazis and then, if there is fighting in Austria, by intervention. And therefore as long as Dr. Schuschnigg can deal with his Austrian Nazis he would seem to be safe.

It is evident that he has ample popular support for a firm policy within Austria, and the more firmly he insists on Austrian independence the more encouragement he will get not only from France and Czechoslovakia, and even from Great Britain, but from Italy as well. The Austrian problem might, therefore, be said to depend not so much on the attitude of Germany, or of any of the other great powers, as upon the strength of the government within Austria itself. Dr. Schuschnigg does not have to fight Hitler, he can win by dealing with the Austrian Nazis.

British Diplomacy May Slash The Axis

It seems fairly clear, too, that he will be helped by the development of British policy. For if Mr. Chamberlain succeeds in making a bargain with Mussolini, the Rome-Berlin axis is inevitably cut. Much has been said about how that axis can never be cut. But let Mussolini obtain some real advantages in the Mediterranean, let him feel secure as against Britain, and he is in the nature of things bound to wish mightily not to see Hitler established on the Italian frontier.

For Mussolini is an Italian, and all the wealth of Ethiopia and all the glories of the new empire cannot in the long run mask the fact that Hitler on the Brenner and on his way to Trieste and the Adriatic would mean that Italy has not only lost the World War but that fascism had made Italy weaker than it has been since the Liberation.

If Chamberlain Fails Eden Will Come Back

And if Mr. Chamberlain fails to come to terms with Mussolini, one may count upon a revulsion of feeling in Great Britain which will return Mr. Eden to power armed with something better than a wooden sword. In the play and counter-play between the democracies and the dictatorships the free countries have always had the greater material strength. But the others have had the stronger will. The issue depends entirely on whether the democracies will use their power, and on their capacity to convince the dictators that they will use their power.

For whenever, as at Nyon last September, as with the Japanese at this moment, the democracies really

Schneider Seeks More U. S. Money

To Fight Disease

Says Badger Dairy Herds Threatened Unless Government Helps

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Wisconsin dairy farmers will face discouragement and economic failure unless the appropriation for eradication of Bang's disease in dairy herds is increased from the present insufficient budget recommendation of $5,300,000 to equal at least last year's appropriation of $11,593,000, Congressman George J. Schneider, Appleton, told the house appropriations sub-committee drafting agricultural appropriations.

Congressman Harry Sauthoff of Madison, Meritt Hull, of Black River, and other members of the Wisconsin delegation also appeared before the committee urging larger appropriations for the purpose of eradicating Bang's disease.

"Farmers in Wisconsin are making sacrifices—with tuberculosis as well as Bang's disease—probably more than other sections of the country, because of sanitary regulations laid down by the city of Chicago," Congressman Schneider pointed out.

"All of the large city milk markets soon will be requiring that milk come from accredited herds. My own city of 25,000 (Appleton) and ten other cities in Wisconsin now require all of the milk coming to their communities must come from accredited herds," he added.

Present Plan Inadequate

If the present budget recommendation of a $5,300,000 appropriation to fight Bang's disease goes through, Wisconsin in 1938-39 would get only $511,473 for her eradication program. During 1936-37, the total of operating cost and indemnity payments in Wisconsin was $1,321,635—the largest amount for any of the states.

Letters received from county agents in Kewaunee, Door, Manitowish, Oconto, Outagamie, Marinette, and Brown counties indicate a strong sentiment in favor of completion of the Bang's disease program, Congressman Schneider indicated.

Schneider said it was estimated that Bang's disease was responsible for a loss of from one-fourth to one-third in milk production and about two-fifths in beef production.

Charles L. Hill, former chairman of the Wisconsin department of agriculture and markets, who also appeared in favor of an increased appropriation, said that if the present budget estimate is not at least doubled it will produce a desperate situation in Wisconsin.

Power Company to Cut $17,000 From Rates for Homes

Reductions, Authorized by Commission Today, Effective This Month

The Public Service Commission today authorized the Wisconsin Electric Power company to reduce its home electric rates by approximately $17,000 a year. The new rates will become effective with the bills rendered in March. Application for authority to reduce the rates was made about a month ago, and the order was issued this morning. At the same time the commission authorized the Wisconsin Gas and Electric company, also a subsidiary of the Wisconsin Electric Power company, to reduce its home electric rates by about $29,000 a year. This company operates in southeastern Wisconsin. A similar rate change was made by the Wisconsin Michigan Company in its Michigan territory last week upon authority granted by the Michigan Public Service Commission. Rates are now uniform throughout all the area served by the company, officials said this morning.

New Rates Listed

The new rates in Appleton and metropolitan area are: Wisconsin Michigan Power company — Appleton-Metropolitan area, 60 cents a month fixed charge plus 50 kilowatt hours at 3.75 cents each; next 30 at 3 cents; next 100 at 2 cents; all over 200 at 1.75 cents. The same schedule will apply in the outlying area except for a 4.25 cents rate on the first 50 kilowatt hours.

The commission said that since 1932 it has ordered or negotiated the following rate reductions for the North American companies:

Milwaukee Electric: Rate cuts ordered in 1933, business lighting, $201,500; 1935, urban and rural service, $277,700; 1935, business and industrial use, $200,000; 1936, industrial use, $29,000; 1936, business and industrial consumption, $256,000 — total, $1,263,000; reductions negotiated: street lighting, $8,300; home use, $81,000; business use, $208,000; cooking and refrigerator use, $14,000; large industrial use, $120,800 — total $431,900.

Gas and Electric Cuts: Wisconsin Gas and Electric: Reductions ordered, in 1933, business lighting, $22,000 and Waukesha Gas, $3,000; 1935, home and farm rates, $125,350; 1935, industrial use, $11,750; 1937, business lighting and power, $90,000 — total $292,100; reductions negotiated, $25,000 home use; $160,300 business lighting and power; $26,600 street lighting and municipal water pumping — total $211,884.

Wisconsin Michigan Power: Reductions ordered, 1933, home electric, $20,850 and business lighting, $22,570; 1934, home use, $2,115; 1936, business use, $2,000; 1936, gas rates, $21,000; 1936, home use, $23,000 and business electric, $25,000 — total $126,335; reductions negotiated: $53,050 home electric; $62,435 commercial lighting and power; $15,310 street lighting; and municipal water pumping — total $130,795. The commission said that Milwaukee Electric company's 10-for-1 bargain rate, which estimates saves customers $100,000 a month, will continue until July 1.

Baker Explains Use of Esperanto

Nationalism Retards Development of Common Language, Students Told

Although Esperanto has not been well received by educators, it appears to be the longest step in the direction of a universal language, Dr. Louis Charles Baker, professor of modern languages at Lawrence college, told students at convocation yesterday.

"Esperanto should not be expected to supplant a language," the professor said. "Its purpose is as an auxiliary language."

Used commercially to some extent, Esperanto is heard over about 100 radio stations in Europe, Dr. Baker said. Six years ago, he told the students, the Wisconsin legislature killed a bill which would have made study of the language part of the University of Wisconsin curriculum. It was felt at the time that the work would not adequately fill a semester.

There have been a great number of attempts to introduce a new language, the professor said, and three, Esperanto, Volapuk, and Ido stand out as the most likely to become permanent. In setting up a new language, linguists have one purpose in mind: To perfect a consistent grammar and create a vocabulary based on principal European tongues.

"The lack of a common language has long been recognized as costly, but its development has been retarded mainly because of nationalism and pride," the professor said.

State Labor Board to Fight 'Company Unions'

Madison —(7)—Prof. N. P. Feinsinger, an attorney for the Wisconsin Labor Relations board, said Tuesday the board would proceed soon against "company unions" in the state on the basis of a decision by the United States Supreme court upholding the right of the national labor board to outlaw such unions for collective bargaining purposes. Feinsinger said the Wisconsin law contains the same phrasing as the federal law, upheld by the high court yesterday. He said he thought the court's ruling would make it possible for the state and national boards to "drive all company unions out of the state."

Independent unions which the state board suspected of being dominated by companies avoided applying for listing in the past, and the Wisconsin board, which has the power to certify unions, has not felt able to do much about it, the board attorney said.

Kimberly Scouts Victors in Final First Aid Tests

Troop 19 Team Beats Marion for Valley Council Championship

Proficiency on the final problem, one in which a man accidentally has one leg shot off, gave the first aid team of Troop 19 at Kimberly first place over the team from Troop 26, Marion, in the valley council finals last night at New London.

The Kimberly team, behind by eight points at the start of the last problem, won 614 to 694. The contest last night was a special one, staged to break the tie between the two teams which resulted in the regular valley council finals at Menasha.

Members of the winning Kimberly team are: Robert LaBerge, William Wachtendonck, Don Verkuijen, and John Kneepkens. The Marion team's members are: Phil Bowers, Tom and James Rogers, and John Pfeiler.

Following is the statement of the problem which the Kimberly team solved to win the contest:

"While running a tractor, a farmer scores out two rabbits. A country doctor driving from a visit to a neighboring town sees the rabbits. He gets out of his car with his shotgun and as he crawls through an old rail fence, both barrels are accidentally discharged—one shot severing his right leg just below the knee, the other shot tearing through the center of the left thigh. You have become separated from your three companions when you hear the shots. You rush to the doctor."

15 Minutes Allowed

"It is 15 miles to the nearest town. You will have to improvise the materials in taking care of this case. Your three companions arrive when you have finished rendering first aid to the doctor. The patient is then to be carried over the old rail fence, down a steep embankment to his car."

Fifteen minutes, not including the carry, are allowed for solution of this problem.

Diagnosis: 1. Amputation of right leg at knee. 2. Lacerated wound leg, possible compound fracture.

Treatment: 1. Digital compression right leg. Tourniquet as quickly as possible, holding on to artery with one hand. 2. Tourniquet to left leg. If not bleeding, leave loose and apply splint. 3. Get fence rail and break to right length and splint with what is available as patient's and farmer's ties, handkerchiefs, belts, farmer's two socks, shoelaces, etc. 4. Treat shock on arrival of the first second and third scouts and farmer. 5. With no materials for stretcher, scouts and farmer must carry doctor over fence to car."

Four Appleton men, A. T. Gardner, James Richmond, Lester Holzer, and Edward Witte, judged the contest.

Smelt Increasing Despite Catches Running Into Tons

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The story of one of the most interesting phenomena of the Wisconsin outdoors, the annual smelt run on Green Bay, has been compiled by Dr. Edward Schneberger, fish biologist for the Wisconsin conservation department.

Explaining that the smelt run is already beginning, and that it will be in full swing by early April, Schneberger this week published a short history of the shiny little fish which many professional fishermen regard as a nuisance but which is steadily gaining in recreational value for the amateurs.

"The smelt is a small silvery fish averaging six to eight inches in length and reaching the maximum length of 14 inches. It is a delicate fish, soft of flesh and weak of bone exterior covering. However, its flesh is of delicious flavor, white in color and very attractive. The smelt spends most of its time in the deeper waters, but at spawning time in the spring they migrate to the shallow waters of rivers, creeks, and freshets bordering the lakes," Schneberger wrote.

Unknown 10 Years Ago.
Ten years ago the smelt were practically unknown in Wisconsin, says Schneberger. "In the years of 1927 and 1928, commercial fishermen, operating in the waters of Green Bay and Lake Michigan caught a few of these small fish in their nets and began to wonder about the proper identity of this small fish. Four years later well established spring spawning runs were occurring in the rivers emptying into Green Bay. Ten upon tons of smelt were reported to have been dipped from certain rivers."

"Records show that in 1936 the Michigan Fish commission planted the eggs of smelt along with the eggs of land locked salmon in the St. Mary's river in northern Michigan. The smelt were supposed to grow up and provide food for the salmon. However, both plantings failed. In 1932 smelt and salmon were again planted, but this time in Crystal lake of Benzine county, Michigan."

"Crystal lake is connected to Lake Michigan, and it is believed that the present smelt population is the progeny of that planting in 1932. The salmon planting again failed, but the smelt flourished. All eggs used in these plantings were obtained from the smelt of Green lake in Maine. From the east shore of Lake Michigan the silvery horde migrated to the fertile grounds of Green Bay and despite the fact that tons are removed each year they still seem to be increasing in numbers."

$75,000 Revenue
Besides the hundreds of amateur fishermen, who according to the state expert use everything "from bed springs to bird cages to catch them," the smelt also will provide this spring a revenue between $75,000 and $100,000 to 125 licensed commercial fishermen operating in Green Bay waters.

The conservation department estimates that the run this year will bring in about 6,000,000 pounds of smelt, or 3,000 tons from now until April 20, which is generally the end of the season.

Schneberger, who has given special study to the smelt phenomenon, explains that "the annual smelt run is comparable to the salmon runs along the Pacific coast. So strong is the reproductive instinct that they are not dismayed by the hundreds of fishermen who wade among them swinging flashlights and lanterns and splashing dipnets."

"For some time after the presence of large number of smelt was recognized in Wisconsin waters, it was feared that there would be no market for these fish as they were an unknown product. However, the public soon discovered that these fish provide a delicious morsel, are very easy to prepare for cooking and that the flesh is readily separated from the bones after the fish are cooked. In many localities housewives can or pickle a supply so that they may enjoy smelt at any time, their appetites are so inclined. Many dealers put thousands of pounds of smelt in freezers for later disposal."

IT'S ODD But It's Science

New York—The question is when did engineers learn to "talk."

The Engineers' Club of New York city is noted for conversational powers of its members. They are the tops of engineering from all over the world.

But when it was proposed to start this club, just 50 years ago, this objection was made:

"You can't have an engineer's club, because engineers don't like to talk to each other."

The objection is believed to have referred to a tendency of engineers not to talk about social and economic welfare. That is what engineers lately have been preaching as the coming topic of greatest importance for their profession.

It appears that some time in the last few years, engineers have learned to "talk" about the social consequences of their work. They are the big appliers of scientific discovery.

They have decided to look to the social effects of their material works. Byron Eldred, president of the club, puts it this way:

"The pen is mightier than the sword, and now in the last 50 years the slide rule has become mightier than the pen."

Eldred has learned to "talk."

DON'T BUILD ANOTHER "DEATH CORNER"

West of Appleton is the busy intersection of Highways 10 and 45, known familiarly as Leppla's Corners. It has been the frequent scene of serious and often fatal accidents. Traffic lights and warning signals notwithstanding, the intersection will continue to take its toll just as intersections like it throughout the nation will continue to invite sudden death.

True, the dangers of this intersection are well known to most drivers in this vicinity, but it really makes no difference whether residents from Outagamie, Winnebago and Waupaca county or residents from more remote areas are killed. A menace is still a menace.

Right now we are confronted with prospects of an intersection that, for danger possibilities completely outshadows Leppla's Corners. This is the intersection of Highway 10 and the new Highway 41 that will come into existence this year when the final link in the latter highway is added.

Situated not far east of Leppla's Corners, this new intersection will throw the two heaviest streams of traffic in the county against each other, creating a hazardous condition that has never before existed (these two highways have hitherto connected inside city limits) and that never ought to exist on a new highway.

There is obviously but one way to handle the situation. This is to construct a "cloverleaf" intersection at this point to remove all crossroad encounters and left turns. It has been estimated that $60,000 will cover the project and this amount is small when you consider the number of lives and amount of property damage that it will eliminate before the road is a few years old. It is also small when you realize that is the one touch needed to keep Highway 41 truly modern throughout its stretch in Outagamie county and northern Winnebago county.

Most drivers have encountered the "cloverleaf" intersection when driving in the Chicago area, in northern Indiana and in the east. In this type of intersection, one main highway is elevated to pass above the other. Should a driver want to turn left he merely crosses the intersection safely above or below the cars coming at right angles to him, and turning right on a curving connecting link, he "loops" back to the direction in which he wants to go. Should he desire to turn right, he takes the connecting link to the right before arriving at the intersection. In each case he enters the intersecting highway without ever crossing the main flow of traffic and without ever making a dangerous left turn.

A highway as modern as the new stretch of Highway 41 literally demands the "cloverleaf" type of intersection when the time comes to extend it across Highway 10. Right now, before work starts, is the time to plan for it.

WOULD WE FIGHT?

"At present, according to the administration point of view," observes Columnist Jay Franklin, "the American people (in international affairs) want only two things: They want to be assured that never, under any circumstances, no matter what may happen in Europe or Asia, will this country be involved in war; and they want to be assured that, if we ever go to war, we will have no allies."

This view may be a correct interpretation of what the people want, or what they think they want. Most newspapers commentators wouldn't know for sure.

But what people want and what they get are often different. Quite a few arguments might arise from the present situation. We would probably not fight for anybody or anything in Europe. But—

Suppose a revived and confident Germany, made stronger numerically and economically by the absorption of her Central-European neighbors, decided to come over and annex Mexico or Canada or Brazil. Would we fight, or wouldn't we? And would we welcome allies in this hemisphere, or wouldn't we?

CROOKED AXIS

Hitler, and Mussolini, at present the most powerful rulers in Europe, have succeeded in terrorizing the rest of that continent and various other regions by their cooperation. The Rome-Berlin axis has seemed to dominate all European affairs for some time.

It is possible that this importance is false, like a magician's illusion. Anne

"No statesman in Europe any longer doubts that the axis is real. The partnership has come to be accepted everywhere as an established political fact. Everywhere except in Rome and Berlin. At both poles it seems still to be regarded as one of the best 'ersatz' products, useful while it lasts, necessary in default of the real thing but not guaranteed to wear."

It would be only natural for the men at the opposite ends of that axis to regard each other with suspicion. They act together not for mutual good but for selfish ends. If it should become more expedient to act separately, each would gladly desert the other. Perhaps that is the aim of Prime Minister Chamberlain's present negotiations with Italy.

The democracies, at least, might stop taking that axis so seriously, and act with courage and vigor to dispel its influence.

GAS MASKS FOR EVERYBODY

The president of the American Chemical Society thinks the United States is neglecting its chemical warfare service. We have great natural resources for this form of defense, he says, but "we are sticking our heads in the sand like ostriches by holding down expenses on our chemical defense and thereby imagining that we can prevent the use of chemicals in war."

He suggests the general use of toxic gases to defend our seacoasts. "Persistent war gases like mustard gas and Lewisite," he says, "should be recognized as important defense weapons. This form of defense has not been sufficiently appreciated."

But perhaps our people and government are not so silly in refusing to get excited about the matter. We have a lot of seacoast. It would take a tremendous amount of gas and equipment to protect their mileage. Also a great deal of training and discipline that would disturb our regular pursuits and might do a lot of psychological harm.

Let's not start accumulating huge stores of war gas and millions of gas masks and learning how to use them and dousing the lights of our coast cities and holding dress rehearsals with everybody wearing those hideous false faces, the way they're doing in Europe. We have more faith anyway in a strong air force and a modern, mobile navy to repel invasion. And so far, there is no invasion threatened from any quarter.

LOCAL SOVEREIGNTY

The effort made in the United States Senate to make local communities, helped by the federal government, bear a larger share of their relief burden, is wise even if it is unpopular. In debate the other day over the $250,000,000 emergency relief appropriation asked by the President, Senator Bailey of North Carolina proposed that the communities be required to contribute one-fourth of the cost of WPA work relief and one-fifth of the cost of direct relief wherever it is possible.

Senator Bailey explained that he had a "deep fear" of the federal government running into bankruptcy through such spending. He pointed out that the government spent $10,000,000,000 for relief from 1933 to 1937, while local agencies were spending $2,000,000,000.

It is natural for any community to take what it can get from Washington, to relieve the local burden. But the only safe way is for every community to do all it can, for its own self-respect and for national welfare and solvency.

Cities, counties and states must recognize that, whenever the federal government assumes their burdens, it thereby inevitably assumes more power over them. The only way for smaller governmental units to preserve their own freedom and authority is for them to bear their own burdens.

A LEGISLATOR'S JOB

One of the columnists tells a story—said to be true—of two congressmen meeting in an elevator in Washington. They spoke of a tax bill which had been drafted by one of them. On parting, the other said to the bill's author:

"Well, I'll vote for your bill, because I know you drew it and it's a good bill, but I don't promise to read it."

Any constituent back home has a right to feel sore about that. After all, what is a congressman's job? Why is he elected? What is he paid for?

A variety of answers may be given, some of them cynical. He may be elected for any number of reasons other than actual qualification as a legislator. In theory, however, he is elected because he is competent to help make the laws and promote the welfare of his country. In practice, he ought to decide about a bill by using his intelligence, by studying it, by understanding its purpose and implications. He should neither oppose nor support it merely because a prominent colleague does one or the other.

Opinions Of Others

WHEN WE WERE YOUNG
 Those who claim that America has gone sissie might get meat for their argument by comparing an ice-cream eating contest engaged in by two mighty Harvard men with the sort of contests that were famous when Harvard college was young.

We recall, particularly, a pre-Revolution drinking bout in Harvard yard, presided over by Cap Huff and Humk Harringer, two great rum heroes of Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage." As he mixes his own brand of hot buttered rum Cap Huff describes the potent brew he is about to ladle out to the thirsty stu-

THE statement of Bernard Baruch to the senate unemployment committee may go a long way toward getting business pipped up again . . . at least I hope so . . . he put the finger on the most obvious source of the current trouble—the lack of business confidence in the future because of potential or actual interference by the New Deal . . . true, this is not the only cause, but it is an important one . . . even a vital one . . . and as long as it can be so quickly remedied, nothing should stop it; the only thing that could stand in the way of the remedy is possibly Roosevelt stubbornness or a desire to use relief as a political club . . . the statement by Baruch cannot be credited to the Liberty League or the Sixty Families . . . he happens to be a long-time Democrat and a supporter of FDR for years . . .

THE FEMININE MIND AT WORK

It is true that the saddest words are: "It might have been," but the most exasperating ones are: "I told you so."

When he kisses her for the first time she doesn't complain of his lack of experience.

They who measure other people by themselves usually use a very poor standard.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder"—of someone else.

A woman never cares how old she is just so long as she can be a few years younger than the other women of her age.

A man's disposition cannot always be judged by the size of his smile. Maybe it's his mouth and not his heart that's big.

—MRS. G. W.

What was that one I used to hear back in college—oh yeah—"absence makes the marks grow rounder."

Thought, on meeting a train yesterday: with the waiting rooms remodeled into one unit, how does it happen that the railroad people haven't taken the male and female designations off the front doors?

Observation: being the first of March and all that yesterday, it was easy to find a parking place, what with so many drivers minus their 1938 license plates.

Prediction: one more blizzard ere come spring less than three weeks from now.

Hope: now that the European situation is improved, what about improving affairs in the states?

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

I CANNOT HELP BUT THINK OF YOU
 I cannot help but think of you
 When in a noisy, crowded room
 Some one with eyes of misty blue
 Speaks softly in the twilight gloom.

When suddenly, upon the street
 I nod to some one we both knew,
 And feel my heart's excited beat,
 I cannot help but think of you!

I cannot help but think of you
 When wakened in the lonely night,
 Remembered joys pass in review
 Before my blurred and longing sight.

The future beckoned with the glow
 Of hope! What peaks we would pursue!
 For dreams that vanished long ago,
 I cannot help but think of you!

ODD HOUSE

It may be intimated that the conductor of this column is a bit radical, but I'd have you know I was among the very last automobile drivers who accepted the automatic windshield wiper when that new fangled improvement was introduced.

Now I find there are a lot of conservative people who look upon the notions proposed here for Odd House from the same attitude I took toward the automatic windshield wiper. I held out a good two years. I hope Odd House will have better going. I hope, too, that we didn't frighten the staid old timers off altogether by setting up that swing dvan in the living room so mother could swing while watching the neighbors go by. And I do hope neither mother nor her scandalized daughter will concoct any more schemes for a while—until we have the roof on, at any rate.

Of yes, of course Odd House must have a roof of some sort. I may wonder around like a lion without a hat, but I still like to have a roof over my head somehow, tile, thatch, slate, shingle, tar, or whatever combination various members of the household may prefer, only the less roof, consistent with protection from rain, snow or excessive sunlight the better.

"I could never see," writes one reader who will be a welcome guest at Odd House. "My hotel bed room and bathroom washrooms, railroad and bus station restrooms and similar public places have plumbing installations which require contact of the hand, when faucets, buttons, etc., can as well be worked by the foot. Altho such places may be kept as clean as possible in the circumstances, there is always a hazard involved in handling or touching handle, knob, button, plunger or other object that has just been handled by some one else with who knows what communicable disease."

The reason why old-time hand-manipulated equipment is still the fashion in places where the roller towel no longer flourishes is, of course, sentiment.

Only foot-pedals will be used for water faucets, toilet flushes and the like in Odd House, not so much for the hygienic effect as for example and to familiarize outlanders with the working of modern plumbing fittings.

From New Haven, Connecticut, comes a report by one of our readers that foot-pedal plumbing installations have been in use for some time in the rest room of a large cafeteria there. This will bring a sigh to many an automobile tourist who has to patronize restaurants wherever his itinerary takes him. It is generally a problem to sit down to lunch with clean hands.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Get Your Iodine

I have called on many of the leading druggists and none can furnish tablets containing one grain of iodine iodide—they have only 3-grain tablets. Could I use one grain tablet of potassium iodide instead? I can get that readily. (J. P. G.)

Answer—Yes. But why not use plain old-fashioned brown tincture of iodine (or spell it iodine if you have lots of time on your hands)? It is simple enough to take a drop or two of ordinary iodine in a half glassful of water two or three times a week or just once a week, as a suitable ration of iodine.

Your man who was overcome by auto exhaust must have inhaled carbon dioxide which caused his collapse, and also carbon monoxide which poisoned him. This is a bad combination. (M. W.)

Answer—A large accumulation of carbon dioxide may cause a person to collapse—as in the case of a man going down into a silo. But no such accumulation is likely to occur in a closed garage. A very small amount of carbon monoxide in the air a man breathes is sufficient to cause collapse. This subject is dealt with in the booklet "How to Breathe," which also gives instructions for resuscitating victims of monoxide, electric shock, asphyxia or drowning. For copy send ten cent coin and a stamped envelope bearing your address. Not clipping of this item, please. Clippings are likely to be lost and cause delay. If you can't write the name of the booklet or monograph you want, some kind person will write it for you.

Your Birthday

"PISCES"

If March 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a. m.; from 1:15 to 3:15 p. m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a. m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p. m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p. m.

Whatever you do, this day, make every effort to do it well, for mediocre endeavors will produce poor results. Accept any happening of importance this day as the gradual development, perhaps, of some future good chance in your personal affairs. It might be well to make no decisions if you are in the slightest degree angry. It will be the cool, level-headed people of Pisces, who will weather the coming, changing tides of Fortune successfully this day. This is not a good day for taking chances of a hazardous nature, so it might be good judgment to be conservative not only in what you do, but also in what you say. The dramatic instinct is apt to be very strong in many people, but it will be very unwise to resort to melodramatic methods in the endeavor to carry any point. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose love is true, should avoid doing anything that they know might be irritating or excite anger, for this will be a difficult day to allay either.

If a woman and March 3 is your birthday, you may find delays of any kind exceedingly irksome. Of a very affectionate nature, you crave a manifestation of a great deal of it from both family and friends. You are susceptible of being easily depressed by drab surroundings, as well as gloomy plays and books, so you must try to avoid all three. If you will interest yourself in some highly specialized line of work, you might not only derive a world of pleasure from it, but also a very fine income. As a musician, concert singer, publicity agent, journalist, interior decorator, actress, educator or demonstrator you may become prosperous. Marriage if it appears, will bring you greatest happiness.

BY PRESTON GROVE

Washington—It may sound like idiocy to send six "flying fortresses" roaring over South America as a gesture of good will but that is a major purpose of the recent flight, and there is at least a fair chance that it will work as well as any other gesture.

The six huge army planes took off from Florida and touched at points in Peru and Chile en route to Buenos Aires, there to participate in the inauguration of President Ortiz of Argentina. (Incidentally a War Department staff and a group of news men had to sit up all the night of the flight, checking the progress of the flight as the planes inched along a six-foot map. They don't cruise at 200 miles an hour on a map; it is rarely an inch an hour.)

One of the strangest developments of this business of establishing good neighborliness with the Southern American republic is this: They become upset and feel neglected if they are not propagandized.

Brave New World

Italy and Germany, who are most active in pressing their trade and other arrangements in South America, learned that lesson some time ago and have been broadcasting propaganda programs across the Atlantic for months. It has worked so well that the United States had to take a hand. The flight of bombers was only one part of the general propaganda effort to prove that Yankees can build planes as good or better than the overseas competitors.

Peru has swapped local goods for Italian planes, but the sight of these handsome U. S. army bombers is expected to show the natives something really hot in fighting planes. Bruno Mussolini's three "green mice" planes which flew across the Atlantic are mere butterflies by comparison.

Nearly every time new planes are delivered to the Panama Canal Zone nowadays, they are flown over some of the Central American republics. Once in Panama they make flights to nearby points, such as Honduras, Guatemala and Nicaragua, and one flight from Panama to Brazil with a new cluster of planes is a possibility.

Military demonstrations are accompanied by offerings of some of the finer things of life. Each Monday night the Bureau of Education broadcasts a short wave program to the cities and jungles of the South. It is called the "Brave New World" series and each program tells a sort of "March of Time" story of a dramatic historic event in the colonization of the Americas.

Army Game

While our mind is on army matters, we must tell you about the army war college baseball team. The majors and colonels who attend the college to learn how to make war get their principal recreation playing baseball. One afternoon the commanding general drove up with a dinner guest and suggested the officers invite him to play.

"Where do you play?" they asked the young fellow as he strolled out to the diamond.

"I play second base a bit," said the guest unsmiling.

They took him out to second base and one of the officers—who are always gentlemen, especially when they are majors and colonels—gave him a few kind pointers.

"When it is a right-handed batter, play between second and third base," the officer who was playing shortstop suggested. "When a left-handed batter is up, play toward first base and I'll cover second for you."

The young fellow nodded and set about his task. He stopped a grounder or two and batted out a pair of nice hits before the game ended.

"Officers," said the commanding general as the game ended, "I'd like you to meet my guest, Gentlemen, meet Harris."

Major Buck Harris, manager of the Washington American League team, holds the league record for put-outs by a second baseman in a season—479 in 1922. We will withhold the name of the blushing officer who coached him at the war college.

GLAMOR GIRLS

London—(7)—When it comes to glamor, the American girl has her English cousin backed clear off the mark.

That's the conclusion of a British impresario who made a fruitless search of the provinces for 14 English beauties who would match the "high standard" of the American glamor girls he has been importing for a Mayfair night club.

The labor minister told him he would have to produce a show with English girls before he brought in any more Americans. So he began a quest for "fresh-faced" girls from the country.

When that failed, he came back to London. And out of 300 girls interviewed here he has found one who will do. But she was born in Scotland.

fences and get themselves reeled.

So the South wins. It gets service and the bacon. Wisconsin gets the taxes and the competition. Also the fence building in the papers and the mails, the latter at public expense.

Not a thing does Wisconsin get except the cost: twelve members costing $120,000 a year, besides cost of secretaries and free mailing. And this is secondary compared to the ruin facing our dairy farmers by subsidized competition built up against them at public expense.

By all means let us have "Dairy Day," already proclaimed for March 31. But let it be not for Wisconsin but for the South and their victory. And then let us have "Oleo Day," now in the saddle and dairy laws slumbering. Or, instead, let it be "Dairy Memorial Day," in memory of sturdy pioneers and a great industry now sacrificed at Washington and Madison.

Senator John E. Caskman

Authorize Tax Agreement With Leather Company

Council to Give 30 Days Notice if Mill Is Sold Before May 1

Kaukauna—Several minor matters were disposed of in the shortest council meeting for some time last night at the municipal building.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign an agreement with an agent of the Wilson Leather company, former Kaukauna concern, by which the company will pay $1,410 in back taxes for 1935, 1936 and 1937 to the city. The proposition had been approved at a previous meeting by the council. In return the city will give the company 30 days notice if the Outagamie mill, in which is stored some property of the Wilson company, is sold before May 1.

A letter from William Flynn was read, asking that the taxes on the plot of land formerly occupied by his icehouse, destroyed by fire on July 5, be remitted, as the taxes were mainly assessed on the building. On a motion of Alderman Raymond Nagel the matter was referred to the city attorney.

Will Go to Chicago
It was announced by Mayor Lewis F. Nelson that three men to represent the city, himself, Jule Merz, and H. F. Weckworth, would go to Chicago Friday for a 2 o'clock meeting with officials of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, to ask for more employment in Kaukauna. Merz was the original mover of the motion to send representatives, and Weckworth will explain the advantages of Kaukauna water power.

A report on a visit last week to Madison by several members in an effort to secure a reduction in the interest being paid on the civic auditorium and high school gymnasium bonds, money which was loaned by the state land commission, was given.

Will Be Discussed
The commission, first, refused to allow the city to pay off the bonds now, and remittance the issues at a lower rate elsewhere, but the Kaukauna committee was told by a member that the city's plea for a lower interest rate than the present 4 per cent would be discussed at their next meeting.

It was reported to the council that a proposed water carnival, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, scheduled for June 11 and 12 at LaFollette park, would be held on the same dates at the Tourist park instead.

The lecture to be given here on Friday night by Professor R. J. Colbert of the University of Wisconsin was announced by Mayor Nelson, who asked that council members and citizens cooperate by attending. The subject to be discussed will be "An Analysis of the Wisconsin Tax System."

Seed-Box Has Many Uses

SOW SEED SPARINGLY IN ROWS 2 INCHES APART

The usefulness of a "flat" or seed-box is not confined to the early spring, when seeds may be started indoors, or in the hotbed and cold-frame.

Even after danger of frost is over, and seeds might be sown directly in the ground, it will still pay to use the seed-box for the very small seeds, like petunias; and for varieties of both flowers and vegetables which require to be transplanted.

The seed-box is under closer observation than even a seed-bed; it may be carried to a shady spot during an excessively warm spell. It can be kept where the hose is handy, and soaked daily. The seedling plants may be kept growing without a check, and when they are ready to move, transplanting may be more easily performed by carrying the flat directly to the spot where the plants are to be set out. The management of the "flat" is the same, whether it be used outdoors or indoors. The standard sizes range from 12x18 to 14x20 inches, 4 inches deep. They are nailed together loosely and it is not necessary to bore holes in the bottom for drainage, as excess water will escape through the cracks.

The flat should be filled with a fine loam, preferably sifted to get out all lumps. The coarse soil may be placed in the bottom, but only fine soil should be used on top.

When seedlings are grown in an outdoor box, it is not necessary to transplant them into pots before setting them directly in the garden. But precautions should be taken to avoid crowding so that the tiny plants may grow as sturdy as possible before they are moved. With the coarser seeds, sow thinly in rows 2 inches apart and when the seedlings appear thin out so that each stands alone without crowding. With the finer seeds, it will help to broadcast the seed rather than sow-

Clare Major Presentation Of Historical Play Holds Audience of Over 1,000

WAR WHOOPS, Indian drums and weird savage music echoed through Lawrence Memorial chapel yesterday afternoon as the Clare Tree Major Children's theater presented "Captive Maid of Old Carlisle" before an audience of over 1,000 children and adults. The play had everything to charm a youthful audience, plenty of action, drama and suspense, and a goodly smattering of humor and pathos, and the children seemed to enjoy it more than any of the previous productions of the children's theater this season. They gave the performers more rapt attention, responded more readily to situations on the stage, and seemed quieter and more orderly as a whole.

As the result of yesterday's play, there will probably be a good many pseudo-massacres in and around Appleton for the next few weeks as the youngsters reenact the scenes they saw in the play. In spite of the intense drama around which the theme of the play is built, the various scenes were presented in such a manner as to minimize the horror and anguish and avoid too intense excitement which might react unfavorably on children. The scene in which the Hartman family is broken up by an Indian raid was presented second hand through the words of the two girls, and was lightened by comedy when two Indian braves entered the cabin and investigated the various items they found there. When they placed wooden dishes on their heads and tried on an unfinished patch-work quilt as an apron, the children shouted with glee.

Another situation of high comedy was that in which an old Indian squaw claims from the spoils of the raid on the Hartman cabin an apron with a bib which she ties over her head and wears during a dance around the campfire. The audience shrieked with laughter when, at Susan's suggestion that the apron be worn in front, the squaw tied the waist strings around her neck and the bib over her face.

The first act setting was particularly good for it suggested the customs and characteristics of early pioneer life in this country. The cozy interior of a settler's cabin with its log walls chinked with plaster, its open fireplace with baking oven at the side, curtained bunk in one corner, wooden dishes and iron kettles for housekeeping, gave an authentic historical background for the period in which the action of the play takes place.

A real Indian, Lone Bear, who played the part of the medicine man, gave a note of authenticity to the Indian camp scenes. Indian dances, led by Lone Bear, were well presented and held the interest of the children.

The Clare Tree Major players appear in Appleton under the sponsorship of Edison School Parent Teacher's association.

Orchestra Acclaimed At Concert

THE Lawrence Symphony orchestra and its director, Dr. Percy Fullinwider, scored a success last evening in a concert of great variety which was well received by an audience of about 500 persons at Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

One of the compositions exceptionally well performed was the opening Overture to Mozart's opera "The Magic Flute." The vitality and spontaneity of the orchestra in this number and particularly the incisive string work gave it the vibrant and living quality so characteristic of Mozart. The playing of the fugal treatment of the first movement deserves particular commendation.

Haydn's second symphony and the Introduction to Act II of Humperdinck's Koenigskinder completed the first group. The first movement of the Symphony and the Minuet were particularly delightful.

Following the intermission, Cyrus Daniel's Nocturne was performed with the composer at the conductor's stand. This composition, mildly impressionistic in character, contains graceful melodic lines for the strings and an abundance of colorful chord progressions and independent part writing for the wind instruments. It is a charming piece, well orchestrated, and appropriately styled "Nocturne."

Dr. Fullinwider's arrangement of Bach's "Airs" for string orchestra featured Elwin Wienandt as "cello soloist. Mr. Wienandt, a Junior at Lawrence Conservatory of Music, gave a thoroughly pleasing and technically competent performance of the air, which is a beautifully sustained melody that rises at times to heights of great emotional appeal.

One of the most enjoyable portions of the program was that devoted to the modern compositions of Donaldson and Stoessel. The two Stoessel numbers from his "Hispania Suite" were especially well received.

Without question, the orchestra gave one of the best performances it has in the past few years. Much credit is due Professor Fullinwider for the perfection this ensemble has attained.

Council Calls for Sewer Separation Project for Spring

WPA Job to Care for Relief; Present Load Low, Mayor Says

Menasha—To keep city workers at work, the city council, at a meeting last night, voted to instruct the city engineer to draw plans for a sewer separation project for this spring.

The motion followed a report presented by Mayor W. E. Held on the city's relief status. The mayor told the council that for the first time in many years the Menasha relief rolls are practically nil. The present sewer project, however, will be completed in about 60 days, which will throw 125 WPA workers on relief again unless another project is arranged, he reported.

The mayor suggested the sewer separation project as being worthwhile and one which would involve little expense as far as materials are concerned. Aldermen from each ward were instructed to inform the city engineer of the need for sewer separation in their wards so that the city engineer can draw the profiles.

Want Crossings Repaired

The council also adopted a resolution to notify the three railroad companies with crossings in the city that if the companies don't repair their crossings within 30 days the city will do so and charge the companies for the repairs.

Bids on fleet insurance were accepted by the council and the insurance was purchased from Gregory L. Suess at a cost of $570.83. Other bids were submitted by Claude G. Meyer, $571.53; J. L. Roth, $595.46; F. S. Bronson, $603.23; Northrup and Friedland, $671.62; L. T. Jourdan, $553.56; Employer's Mutual, $598.61; and VanAvery and Adams, $590.63. The low bid of L. T. Jourdan was for liability only, failing to cover fire and theft and was rejected.

A motion was carried by the council to advertise that sidewalks needing repairs will be repaired by the city and charged to the property owners if the property owners don't repair the sidewalks themselves. The council also voted to advertise for bids for a complete audit of city books.

Disease Prevention

For prevention of contagious diseases, the council decided to hold clinics for vaccination for smallpox, scarlet fever and diphtheria to be given to about 300 Menasha children. Alderman George Eckrich reported that the city in previous years had conducted vaccination clinics but that the work was dispelled with since the high school burned. Upon Alderman Eckrich's motion, the council voted to raise the salaries of operators of city garbage trucks $10 a month, making the monthly salaries $100. The aldermen reported that provisions for the increase had been made for in the budget.

City Attorney Edward C. MacKenzie recommended that the council elect a claim by Mrs. Frances Domagalski who was injured when she fell this winter while walking. The city attorney contended that the street on which the woman fell was not continuously in a slippery condition. The council accepted the attorney's recommendation. A claim amounting to $128.03 for damage alleged to have been caused to the home of R. M. Sensesbrenner when an oak street sewer broke causing a 28-inch fall to flow into his basement was referred to the city attorney. A bill amounting to $8 for removal of a wrecked plan was allowed.

Will Confer On Relief

Upon the motion of Alderman C. J. Oberweiser, the mayor will meet with members of the city's relief commission for reorganization in case dispensing of relief should be returned to the city. Russell C. Flom, a member of the commission, had submitted his resignation, stating that as there were no meetings of the commission he had no knowledge of what was being done and didn't want to carry the responsibility. It was explained by R. M. Sensesbrenner that he and John Ryan were appointed to represent Menasha in the Neenah-Menasha relief group and that the Menasha commission wasn't active. The mayor declined to accept Mr. Flom's resignation.

A request submitted by Ervin E. Wheelock of the Menasha Trades and Labor council sought increases in pay for the mayor, aldermen and call firemen, the latter to be raised from $10 to $15 a month. The request was tabled, the mayor explaining that the request was received too late for action during the February meeting when salaries are fixed.

Oshkosh Man Sentenced Under 'Repeater' Law

Oshkosh—(AP)—Robert W. Wilke, 28, of Oshkosh, pleaded guilty in municipal court last yesterday to six charges of passing worthless checks and received a sentence of one to two years in state prison under the "repeater" statute.

He also was sentenced to serve 364 days in county jail on each of the six counts—all sentences to run concurrently.

Wilke was arrested last Monday at Madison, where he pleaded guilty to similar charges. Sentence there was deferred.

District Attorney Lewis Magnusson, asserting Wilke usually posed as a janitor buying lumber and building materials, read into the record a statement that Wilke, also Robert W. Wilke, had been identified by Otto Olsen of Milwaukee, as a man who formerly unloaded such supplies frequently while living there.

British Reversal Boosts U.S. Navy Plan, Club Told

Neenah—That the complete reversal of Britain's foreign policy with its consequent resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden leaves America out on a limb, the well-known limb was the contention of Dr. L. C. Baker, Lawrence college professor, who presented the fifth of a series of current events discussions at the 2:30 Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Women's Tuesday club in the Neenah library club room.

"The reversal of policy has given United States a boost and the Eden did not believe that way. Eden is a strong league man and Chamberlain plans direct negotiations with Mussolini and Hitler and abandons, more or less, the league as a clearing house. He stated outright that the league had no power to protect the smaller nations. All in all, the English policy in regard to the dictator countries is completed reversed. After all, Chamberlain's policy is realistic. Isn't it better to negotiate a treaty, get tempers settled down, and perhaps settle more difficult problems later than to follow a policy that would inevitably lead to war as Eden's would have done? How far Chamberlain will go is questionable. He may be blocked by followers of Eden whose strenuous campaign to support him and the League of Nations already has begun. If it grows strong enough, a general election may be called and Chamberlain would be out."

Scenes Have Shifted

Dr. Baker prefaced his discussion with quoting from Shakespeare, "all this is a stage and the men and women are merely players" as he declared that the scenes have shifted decidedly within the last few months and some of the players have disappeared from the drama. Gerrany is now the center of the stage with the complete nazification of the army following the removal of several older men in the key positions as a result of the composition of the cabinet.

Dr. Baker's discussion of the situation in Europe, the situation is calmer and less bitter than it has been for several months. "France is probably worse off in the face of this reversal of policy than United States. She is now right in the middle of the road and doesn't know what to do. There is but one thing she can do and that is negotiate directly with Mussolini and Hitler and that is apparently what she is going to do. As for Russia, she is getting ready to stage another Roman circus for another great trial is to be held in Moscow, and broadcast, as about 21 leaders of the older regime are to be tried and no doubt shot. The disconcerting thing in the picture is where is it going to end. What does it mean to Russia? To the allies of the Soviets, the pukes are great terror because they are wondering what will happen to Russia when its great leaders are no more."

WPA to Condot Basketball Tests At Gym in Menasha

Boys Between 10 and 19 Eligible to Compete In Contests

Menasha—A basketball efficiency test for boys of the Twin Cities between the ages of 10 and 19 inclusive will be conducted at 8:30 Saturday morning at the Butte des Morts gymnasium by the WPA recreational department. Luther Meyer will have charge of the tests. Only boys who are not actively engaged as members of high school basketball squads are eligible to compete.

Through the use of scoring tables, younger boys will have an opportunity equal to that of older boys because of a point differential allowed in accordance with the age of the competing youngsters.

The four events will consist of free throw, dribble in and shoot, long shot and follow shot and basketball golf contests. In the dribble in and shoot, the boy will take 10 throws in five series of two each. Any style or manner of delivering the ball may be used. Points are scored on the number of baskets made.

Dribble-in-Shots
In the dribble in and shoot contest the boy advances the ball by a continuous dribble from 35 feet out to any point within 10 feet of the basket and takes his shot. The action must be continuous and the dribble must be legal. If the ball goes out of bounds or the dribble is illegal, the trial counts zero. Ten trials are to be taken and one point allowed for each successful shot.

In the third event the long shot must be taken from any point 20 feet out from the basket and the short shot must be taken from where the ball is caught on the rebound or after the first bounce. If the ball touches the floor twice or goes out of bounds, no short shot may be attempted. If the long shot is made, the short shot must be taken from designated spots. Ten trials of a long and short shot will be taken with a long shot counting two points and a short shot one point.

In the basketball golf only one shot will be attempted from each of 10 locations. One point will be scored for each successful shot.

The basketball tests are similar to the football tests conducted by the WPA last fall. The winning records of Winnebago county youths will be submitted in competition with the winners of other counties throughout the state.

Movie Land Its People and Products

Glamor is Hollywood's stock-in-trade, and the studios take no end of precautions to preserve the illusion. Publicity photos (pictures at left in parallel columns below) are censored to keep the public from seeing any which don't show the stars as the movie-makers want us to imagine them. But look what happens (right) when the candid cameras of the news photographers focus on the glamor gals and guys.

GRETA GARBO

Not even a studio publicity man could want anything better than this still of the mysterious Swede as she appeared in "Anna Karenina."

But look at the Glamorous Garbo now, telling newsmen who met her in New York "how sick I've been" on a trans-Atlantic crossing.

CLARK GABLE

Here are Gable and his sideburns as they appeared in "Parnell"—enough to make any woman's heart leap, if she likes sideburns.

Now you see the same Mr. Gable in the act of blowing his nose—as the news camera saw him backstage at a Hollywood benefit.

BARBARA STANWYK

Miss Stanwyk displays for the still cameraman and for the film fans—the alluring profile seen a few years ago in "Baby Face."

Job Office Finds Private Work for 84 During Month

209 New Applications for Employment Received In February

Neenah — The Neenah-Menasha office of the Wisconsin State Employment service during February placed 84 persons in private employment, according to a report issued today by Harry D. Gates, manager.

Gates reported that a total of 209 new applicants for employment were accepted during the month, while 417 applications were canceled and transferred to the inactive file through failure of the applicant to notify the office within the 30-day validity period.

With persons previously registered, the office held 1,699 reinterviews and 308 renewals of applications for employment were taken from persons previously registered but who had allowed their applications to become inactive.

During the month 2,300 office calls were made by persons transacting business with the office. This figure includes 1,213 calls by persons filing weekly claims for unemployment compensation benefits.

Gates said that the active file of applicants remained about stationary for the month as the total of applications on Feb. 1 was 1,004 and on Feb. 28 it was 1,010.

He pointed out that from the applicants' standpoint two things are essential. They should renew applications between the first and the fifteenth of each month as long as they are seeking employment and make sure that the office has their correct address and telephone number. He said it isn't necessary for them to make personal calls, as letters, postcards or telephone calls are sufficient.

Applications are carried in the active file until the sixteenth of the month following the date of registration or renewal, he added.

Mechanical Union Only Threat to Actors' Guild

Los Angeles—Some people regard as pompous affectation the interest and leadership of such enormously rich actors as Robert Montgomery, James Cagney and Joan Crawford in the organized labor movement in the moving picture business.

But whatever their personal motives, they have formed a union called the Screen Actors' Guild, with a charter from the American Federation of Labor, and have imposed on the industry an agreement which produces the effect of a closed shop in the lower orders of the profession.

By eliminating casuals and others who were considered to be non-professionals from the rolls of available extras they reduced the number of eligibles from about 14,000 a year to about 10,000 at present and obtained wage increases for the survivors.

The rolls are now closed, but may be reopened from time to time if there appears to be a shortage of dress-suit people or men with whiskers or talent of some other type. Extras and bit players must belong to the union, but the employers are allowed to use non-union actors in the higher classifications at the ratio of one in ten.

The agreement raised the minimum pay of the extra from $3.20 a day to $5.50 and established a minimum of $25 a day for persons who have lines to speak. The extras and bit players collected an aggregate increase of $3,000,000 last year, and the fortunate rich are proud of the fact that these benefits were wrung from the producers and handed down to the poor members of the profession by their willingness to violate their signed contracts and strike.

Decided They Had Duty To Break Their Word

The strike vote, taken a year ago, was 98 per cent for a walkout, and the stars who voted "aye" adjusted their problem of the integrity of the signed agreement in interesting, but inconclusive fashion. They decided that the obligation to help the helpless was greater than their individual obligation to their employers, and ceased to consider themselves individually. They decided that collectively they had a moral duty to break their word.

Mr. Montgomery admits that no matter how fine it may be whittled, the point of the integrity of a contract still exists, and the employers naturally ask how they can be expected to trust the signed agreement of a union whose president and other leaders already have shown that they reserve the right to abrogate for any cause which they consider sufficient.

However, the agreement, promising among other things, that there will be no strike for 10 years, appears to be working well, and the only serious threat against the peace comes not out from the employers but from an ambitious rival union, also chartered by the American Federation of Labor. This is the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees, run by a Chicago man named George E. Brown, as president, and locally administered by one William Byoff, as the personal representative of the president.

Actors' Leaders New In This Union Business
This union includes the stagehands, grips, lamp electricians, property men, makeup men and most important of all, the projectors or projectionists. These are the men who run the machines in the theaters around the country, and obviously if they should be called out in a move to coerce the actors into the I. A. T. S. E. the livelihood of the business would be stopped at the source.

There has been no formal move as yet to absorb the actors and bring within reach of Mr. Brown's union the astronomical salaries of the stars for income taxes and capital levies. Nevertheless, the actors are wary and are investigating the careers of the Messrs. Brown and Byoff. If the move occurs they will fight for their union's autonomy and for immunity from arbitrary assessments and horizontal percentage levies on their salaries.

On the other hand, they present a tempting possibility well worth fighting for, and they have heard that the executive council of the alliance passed a resolution at a recent meeting in San Antonio authorizing themselves to take over the guild at some future time.

The actors' leaders are amateurs and altruistic dilettantes in labor organization. They have not yet stood any test comparable to that

APPLETON HIGH school cagers molded themselves into a smooth working offensive machine and employed a masterly defense to stop East Green Bay, 30 to 21, in a Fox River Valley conference battle at Armory G last night. While a little late in the season to do much about championship honors, the squad showed it has plenty on the ball in avenging a previous defeat suffered at the hands of the current circuit leaders.

A capacity crowd jammed Armory G for the last time as next season's games will be played in the gymnasium at the new high school building. The armory has been the scene of high school tilts for many years and, pardon us, if we get sentimental, it seemed fitting that a high school team should bow out with a victory tune on its lips.

Many of the last played their last home games of their high school careers last evening but it was the boys who will be back next year that spotlighted the assault against the Red Devils. Bill Besch caged ten points on four buckets and two gift shots to cop scoring honors and combined his offensive thrusts with a driving floor game. Wes Morris scored eight points on four neat buckets and established himself as a deceptive dribbler and adept ball handler of the first rank. Warren Buesing, who has been knocking around with the B squad, was uncovered by Coach Joseph Shields last night and was a constant threat to the invaders. Powers, J. Bailey, Rogers and Oliver all added their efforts to bring home the bacon.

Missed Manard
It must be said that East was handicapped without the services of Bob Manard, leading conference scorer who broke his leg in a tilt at Fond du Lac last week. Bob Clancy carried the brunt of the scoring work with four buckets and a charity throw for nine points and had the disconcerting habit of nesting in a corner and breaking for a pass under the basket.

Appleton started off with two points minutes of play and Morris added another field goal while East Green Bay tried to get organized. Buesing converted on Dale.

Reserves Show Promise
In Preliminary Tilt at Armory Last Night

Appleton High school reserves showed promise in trimming East Green Bay B squad, 24 to 20, in a preliminary tilt at Armory G last evening. Appleton took an early lead and never relinquished it.

Swamp capped scoring honors with four field goals and a gift shot for nine points and Werner bolstered the Appleton attack with three buckets for six points. Christman topped the losers with four baskets for eight points.

APPLETON HIGH SCHOOL CAGERS SPILL EAST GREEN BAY

Appleton High school hoopers did themselves proud at Armory G last night and upset East Green Bay, leaders of the Fox River Valley conference, by a 30 to 21 score. Don Powers, shown to the right in the above picture, failed to make this bucket but the squad did hit often enough to lead throughout the entire contest and held the Red Devils in check with an airtight defense. Bill Besch can be seen in the extreme left and Green Bay players following the ball are Rittner, 16; Balch, 18; and Josephs, 15. Besch was the high point man with four baskets and two free throws for ten points. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Pinch-hitting for McIntyre isn't the easiest thing to do but the wheels must be kept rolling during his absence so here goes—

Mac, in case you didn't notice, applied for a marriage license recently and is stepping out of the deep, deep end. Though Appleton is losing one of its very eligible bachelors, I, for one, say "Congrats, Mac" and assume the followers of this page will echo the phrase.

Report has it that the Town Taxi quint, currently leading the Outagamie County league, is drumming up a game with the Fox River squad, winners of the City Y. M. C. A. circuit, with a mythical city citizenship at stake.

Basketball is just about at its height with leagues winding up and tournaments getting underway. Appleton High school will finish its Fox Valley conference schedule Friday night at West Green Bay.

The Carroll game at Alexander gymnasium Saturday comes as the climax to a heavy day of athletics on the Lawrence campus. The all-Midwest conference swimming and wrestling championships are to be settled earlier in the day and prior to the basketball contest. What was true in the first Lawrence-Ripon game was just the reverse in the Vike-Carroll encounter. The Pioneers playing their last home game under Coach Elmer Lampe rushed Lawrence dizzy the entire 40 minutes and won without a struggle.

Three Lawrence seniors will be making their final inter-collegiate basketball appearance on Saturday. Cliff Burton, not an exceptional player, but nevertheless one of the best forwards the Vikings ever presented will end a career that has seen him work practically the entire elapsed time for three seasons. Junior Kapp and Ray Herzog who have alternated at regular center will be the other two who close very satisfactory careers. All three are Appleton boys.

PAUL ZAPPE rapped a 242 game, highest of the evening, finished with a 563 series. L. Merk 1 a 221, and G. Miller a 203 as Checker Lunch swept a match with Hercules in the Appleton City league at the "Y" all night last night and chalked up the best team game, 989.

For the Hercules team, W. Stuch wrote down a 508 series. Clarence Ehke of the Patterson Plumber put together games of 191, 226 and 186 for a 603 series, the league's highest, and his teammate, J. Herman, rapped a 216. The Patterson keggers won two games from Town Taxi, paced by P. Strelbel who shot 203 and 554, P. Fiebelkorn who had 204, and B. DeVall who rolled a 202.

With W. Nissen shooting 226 and 500 and Dr. M. Goeres games of 210 and 209, Odd Fellows took two from Knock Lumber Co., led by R. Heiss who turned in a 566 series. The Odd Fellows bowled the best match score, 2731.

Dr. C. Kolb smashed scores of 20, 201 and 377 and H. Batz a 204 as Patterson Press snared all three from Valley Sporting Goods. For the losers, Verlo had 214 and 530 and W. Elias 205.

The new Menasha High school gymnasium will be the scene of one of a series of six games between the Oshkosh All-Stars and New York Renaissance pro basketball squads at 8:30 Monday evening. The All-Stars are currently seeking the National Professional league title while the New York hoopers are claimants to the world champion colored cagers title.

Out-of-town fans may order tickets from M. F. Crowley, Menasha, committee chairman of the Lions club, which is sponsoring the event, and reserved seats are being sold in Appleton, Neenah and Menasha.

Boxing fans will see plenty of action on a flashy card scheduled for Thursday evening at Armory G and sponsored by the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion while wrestling enthusiasts will journey to S. A. Cook armory at Menasha Thursday evening where two women are paired in a feature bout.

If you take issue with anything which may appear on the sports pages this week, don't blame Mac. He'll probably have enough trouble on his hands from now on—

LAWRENCE winds up the 1938 basketball season this week meeting its two oldest rivals, Ripon and Carroll. Both are return games, the Vikes being one up on the Redmen and one down with Carroll.

The Ripon encounter, to be played at Ripon Wednesday, is final in the Midwest conference for each squad and both will be trying to improve on their lowly standings in the league. The Redmen have yet to win a conference encounter, but have shown great improvement during the latter half of the race, showing closer comparative scores than several of the leaders. In the January game at Appleton, Coach Denney's boys had it all their own way and it was hardly a contest, but no such leisure is expected on Wednesday.

The Carroll game at Alexander gymnasium Saturday comes as the climax to a heavy day of athletics on the Lawrence campus. The all-Midwest conference swimming and wrestling championships are to be settled earlier in the day and prior to the basketball contest. I ASKED HIM ABOUT HIMSELF AND HIS FAMILY. HE SAID HE WAS AN ONLY CHILD AND HAD A LIBERAL INCOME FROM HIS PARENTS WHO WERE TOURING THE WORLD.

HE WAS SO RESPECTFUL, KIND AND CONSIDERATE. HE HINTED MARRIAGE AND THAT TICKLED MY EARS.

MY EMPLOYER SAID TO ME ONE EVENING, "WELL, I SEE A HANDSOME YOUNG CHAP IS GIVING YOU A LOT OF ATTENTION. I GUESS YOU'LL BE LEAVING US SOON." I SAID COYLY, "YOU NEVER CAN TELL." BUT I TOLD HIM, "I'LL NEVER LEAVE UNTIL YOU HAVE A SATISFACTORY GIRL IN MY PLACE." I LOVED LITTLE JANIE TOO MUCH FOR THAT. JANIE WAS HIS BABY GIRL. I CALLED HER "ITTY-BITTY." WE HAD A LOT OF FUN PLANNING OUR HONEYMOON TRIP. I GOT A BETTER LESSON IN GEOGRAPHY LOOKING OVER FOLDERS AND MAPS THAN I EVER GOT IN SCHOOL.

I WAS JUST TOO HAPPY. LITTLE DID I KNOW HOW SOON MY LOVE DREAM OF HAPPINESS WOULD BE SHATTERED.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEMAY

SYNOPSIS: Our love for a young English girl has kept my uncle, James Clyde, and myself going to do Clyde more harm than good--and it's coming soon. This is a lonely job, meant for lonely men. It will be 20 years before Balingong is a fit place for a white woman to live in. If you leave now he may be able to forget you. But if you don't it will be too late for that; it may be too late now.

She said, "Paul, I was born in Burma and raised in Singapore. I can live any place in the world. You say that I'd go away he might forget me -- and I suppose in that you're speaking for yourself. But I am not at all sure I'm ready to be forgotten."

I was silent. Under other circumstances this girl might have been my own; she might have shared everything in my life. I knew that as certainly as I knew up from down. And another thing I knew much too well for my own good was that no other woman in the world would ever do in Christine's place.

I wanted to tell her this. She was so close to me that I could hear her breathe, and it seemed incredible to me that she could not

"But--you don't want me here."

Council Extends Time for Payment Of Taxes to Mar. 15

Action at New London Covers Levy on Real Estate

New London—The deadline for payment of real estate taxes by New London property owners was extended to March 15, without penalty or interest, by action of the common council at its regular meeting at the city hall last night. The city could assume no further extension after that date Mayor E. W. Burnoff reminded the council.

Treasurer L. M. Wright reported that tax payments were fairly good and to date were being made steadily but that many residents had asked for some extension of time.

The adjustment of claims on personal property tax assessments due to misunderstandings, mis-statements, and recording errors took up most of a stormy 3-hour session last night. Some refunds were allowed, some denied and others held over for investigation.

The refund of $2,100 in building and personal property taxes to the Edison Wood Products company was deferred pending a legal opinion from City Attorney Giles H. Putnam. The assessor's increase of $65,000 in the building assessment over 1936 was retracted by action of the council Jan. 25, leaving the assessment at $100,000. The taxes were paid by the company under protest after the board of review failed to act on a request for a reduction. Later the board, after an examination of the buildings, recommended the reduction to the council.

Explains Changes

Called to explain the suddenly increased assessment, Assessor A. W. Burnoff told the aldermen that the raise was made to cover the valuation of improvements made on the plant site within the past 10 years which were never included in the assessment rolls at the time. He cited the installation of a water tank and pressure system, erection of a box factory, warehouse, and addition of electrical machinery and other improvements.

Assessed valuation of the buildings was $340,000 in 1922, $250,000 in 1928 and $200,000 in 1930, the assessor related. In 1934 the valuation was cut in half to $100,000, and has remained there since. Burnoff said he doubled the personal property assessment at $4,000 and admitted it could have been higher.

A claim for $16.20 by Albert Handwerker for damage alleged to have been done to his car when he hit a washout at the south end of Wyman street Feb. 9 was disallowed by the council. A claim by Leland Dobberstein for $2 for the loss of a tire he said was broken in a washout on Door street yesterday was referred to the city attorney.

Amend Ordinance

The item of buttermilk was stricken from the city's milk ordinance by an amendment submitted by City Attorney Putnam. The ordinance requires producers to secure a license to sell in the city but since no one in the city has been producing buttermilk the last year much violation has existed because outside producers refused to secure a license, Putnam said. Since no local interests offer competition the restriction was lifted by the amendment.

Two proposed new ordinances

were read and changes suggested before final adoption at a later meeting. One concerned the stipulation of fees and conditions for moving buildings in the city and the other defined the fire limits in the city and the type of construction permissible in those limits. The building ordinance will be rewritten to include provisions of a previous ordinance on the subject. The other will extend fire limits which at present include the business and light industrial section between Shawano and N. Pearl streets and the Wolf river and Spring street.

New London Five To Meet Truckers

Tilt With Clintonville Will Close League Season For Stacymen

New London—The last conference game of the season will have the New London Red and White entertaining the Clintonville Truckers on the home floor here Friday evening in a Northeastern Wisconsin conference game.

The Truckers generally are sure victors but always after a hard scrap. As in football, Coach D. N. Stacy's reserves are looking forward to seeing some full time action in the game Friday night. Some of the B's also may get an opportunity. The regulars will get all the action and show they want in the conference tournament to be held at Kaukauna next week.

While practices have been lighter the last two weeks, corrective drilling and scrimmages continue under Coach Stacy and Assistant Gregory Charlesworth. The Manawa High school squad may visit the gym Thursday afternoon for scrimmage practice, Stacy said yesterday.

Eric Barlow, thirty-six grade school boys played in the tournament. Tied for second place in the second half were three teams with a 3-2 standing. Purdue captained by Dick Kent; Wisconsin led by Robert Seering; and Minnesota, captained by James Bodoh. Darland Rectz headed the Chicago team which placed third with one victory and Bob Vanderveer's Northwesterns were shut out for last place.

Religion Needed For World Peace

Power of Christianity Only Solution to Problem, Olsen Tells Club

New London—International relations and the policies of the United States were discussed by Walter A. Olsen, president of the Four Wheel Drive company of Clintonville, before the regular dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the Elwood hotel Monday evening.

The dependency of the United States on other countries for raw materials requires that this country maintain satisfactory relations abroad, the speaker said. We are more dependent on many imports than most citizens realize, he pointed out. Our iron ore is useless for steel and other high grade metals without the special alloy materials supplied by Europe, Asia and South America. There is no substitute in the United States for Japanese silk as used in parachutes, he continued.

The speaker traced the history of human relationships from ancient times to the present and declared only the great power of the Christian religion could bring peace to the world.

Vocal solos were presented by Polly Hartquist and Patricia Egan, accompanied by Miss Mary K. Donohue. The Rev. Mr. Weise, Methodist pastor at Clintonville, also was a guest of the club.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEWIS

read my thoughts. But I must hide from her what I felt. I bit my tongue until I tasted blood, and the sweat was standing on my face. She laid her hand upon my arm. "Paul, do you think — why, you have a chill!"

"Just a touch. It won't bother me, on the water."

"You can't go up that river if you're sick. It's out of the question for you to take the Tenyanglang rifle-ment out, if you have a fever coming on!"

"I'm going up the river. I'm going up thousands of 'em before we're through here. What worries the hell out of me is leaving you here in Balingong. I'll be a whole lot easier for me, and for Clyde, and for all of you if you will take the Avon and go out. Go to Singapore — and go to England. Go anywhere where a man can feel you're safe for a while."

Her words came so faintly that they were hardly more than a breath. "Enggan mati; credai mati."

I had enough Dyak by now to know that native saying. "Slay, and do not run away and die." I was breaking my own heart, but I had to go on. The one thing that mattered more than anything else was that Christine was not safe, and could never be safe in this infernal river.

"You're going to have to stop thinking about yourself," I said. Heaven knows we have enough to contend with here, without having to take double precautions. Right now the Tenyanglang ought to be back in their own villages, driving their people into planting some rice. But Clyde will never let them go while you're here."

A Kiss

She was utterly still; I could no longer hear her breathe. I was hurting Christine because she had to be got out of that fever river, and there was no other way to do it.

"Paul, do you mean that?"

"Look at it yourself, Christine." She drew a long breath, and there was a quaver in it like the quaver in the drifting firefly light above the Siderong.

"All right, I'll go, Paul."

I took with me 50 Tenyanglang riflesmen, 200 Dyak hand-to-hand fighters, three of our Linkang men to support the idea that this was a white man's expedition, and Blair. We set out in 18 paddle-driven bankongs, without sail.

My uncle came down to the beach to shake hands with me as we got our boats into the water in the dark. He said, "Goodbye, boy. I guess you know I'd give something pretty to be in your place."

At the last minute, as I was about to step into my bankong, Christine pulled down my head and kissed me. Even by the reddish light of the torches I could see that she was very pale.

"For heaven's sake, Paul," she said, "when you get into the Palowit, make them move quietly. They want to babble so! But they understand quiet in an ambush. Make them see that this is a moving ambush."

You get used to expecting that men will foresee things like that; I would have expected Blair, though he never fought a river, to see at once that the Dyaks would shrill and yammer at first contact with an enemy. Years of having his hands on actual things should have taught him to guess that, without thinking. But how did she know? In sending away Christine we were sending away more than we could ever guess.

As we shoved off, she called after me, "Paul, stay with your boats. They may fall back to their hill stockades, and if you follow them they'll cut you off."

I grinned, and waved goodbye, and we went swinging down the river to the sea.

The long green rollers smelled clean and good after so long a time in the stagnant river. Once clear of the pass, we swung out through open water around the headland of Ponjang Lapa, in the light of a rising sun; and we camped that night

Collections on Closing Day Amount to $4,005, Treasurer Reports

Forest Junction—Of a tax roll of $23,285.81, the sum of $1,214.63 went on the delinquent list when collections without penalty ceased at the office of E. A. Rusch, Brillion town treasurer, Monday night. Of the delinquent figure, $148.12 is on personal property and the balance of $1,066.51 is on real estate. Collections by the treasurer at the Forest Junction State bank on the concluding day amounted to $4,005.03. Out of 201 dogs listed by the assessor as being harbored in the township last summer, licenses had been issued for 191 by the town treasurer on Monday night. A few of these delinquencies are covered by affidavits of death.

The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at McKInley school next Tuesday evening will be devoted to a study of the reason for the small percentage of rural school graduates to enter high school. The topic will be discussed by Leonard A. Otto, member of the school board.

Electors Discuss Highway Problem

Town of Holland Voters Consider Snow Removal Equipment

Forest Junction—A special meeting of the electors of the town of Holland was held in the town hall near Askeston on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of determining matters in regard to the acquisition of snow removal equipment by the township.

The town is under the county system of highway maintenance and snow removal of Brown county, and agitation for the special town meeting originated after the snowstorms of last January, among residents near the southern extremity of the county, who became impatient over the delay in opening town roads, which the county system occasionally involves.

A petition for the meeting was filed with the town clerk. Since financing of the present system takes into account year-round activity on the roads in the township, Wednesday afternoon's meeting may involve proposals for acquiring grating and other maintenance equipment by the town for use during the summer months.

Hull's Policies Have Strong Ally In G. O. P. Ranks

Winthrop Aldrich Supports Reciprocal Trade Agreements

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Significant among the utterances of the week is the speech of Winthrop Aldrich supporting the reciprocal trade agreements of Secretary Cordell Hull.

It is not merely that Mr. Aldrich is the head of the Chase National bank, largest in the country, or that he is a staunch Republican, or that he happens to be the son of the late Senator Nelson Aldrich of Rhode Island, who, as Republican leader of the senate, sponsored protective tariffs of the highest order, but that a voice should be raised from the highest financial community in the nation, recognizing at last that removal of trade barriers does have much to do with our domestic prosperity.

"Secretary Hull," said Mr. Aldrich, "is not proposing to do away with all protection, nor am I. But we have let our protective tariff run wild and must moderate it. I believe that it is economically impossible for this country to isolate itself from the rest of the world and I assert that the superiority of the interests of all the people over those of any minority group or groups is obvious."

Restore Foreign Trade
"To the extent that we can restore foreign trade we can resist the present tendency toward a planned economy and controlled and regimented economic life. I advocate the restoration of an adequate foreign trade to restore the internal economic balance, to take away the excuse for regimentation and to protect both our economic and our political freedom."

"Let me say to those who believe in prohibitive protective tariffs and at the same time desire international economic freedom that they will find it very difficult to have both. An extreme regimentation of foreign trade begets an extreme political demand for regimentation of our internal activities."

What Mr. Aldrich has said is almost identical with the argument made by Lewis Douglas, Democrat, in his recent speech before the Economic Club of New York. Mr. Douglas was originally part of the Roosevelt administration as director of the budget, but he resigned, and one of the points he has made to opponents of the New Deal is that they cannot on the one hand, consistently oppose domestic regimentation and yet refuse to allow trade barriers to be removed so that American internal production can be increased and the limitation-of-output doctrine overthrown.

Lauded By Newspaper
The address of Mr. Aldrich has attracted the attention of the "Baltimore Sun," a traditionally Democratic newspaper which refused to support Mr. Roosevelt for re-election in 1936.

Its editorial says there is a touch of "historic irony" in the circumstance that Mr. Aldrich has come forward to champion Mr. Hull's efforts to lower tariff barriers when his own father championed a protectionism that ended with the blue sky and which policy had much to do with the rise of progressivism in the west and eventually with "the eclipse of the Grand Old Party altogether." The Sun adds:

"Essentially perhaps there is no inconsistency between the policies of father and son. Each would serve the needs of the country as conditions appear at different times to dictate policies. Senator Aldrich was dominant in a period when the United States was a borrowing, expanding country intent on building up native industries."

"The interesting point, now, however, is that the younger Aldrich has the intelligence and honesty to discard loyalty to a policy which must have a powerful tradition in his family and to urge that the fiscal policies of the United States be geared to the conditions which now confront the country. But while we honor Mr. Aldrich for his realism, we feel it is still more remarkable

FIXING A TIRE PART OF CLASSROOM WORK

Students in the automotive service department of the Appleton Vocational school have classroom work of the most practical nature, as can be seen in the above picture showing three of them fixing a tire. The students learn to straighten bent fenders, mend torn upholstery, grease cars and perform other tasks which they need to know in automotive service work.

that so few men of his stamp have seen the light.

Alive to Own Good
"If the business men, manufacturers, shippers, and transportation interests of the great cities were as alive to their own good as Mr. Aldrich is, his voice would not be so lonely as to make the first pages of it would be but one voice in a mighty chorus."

Quite naturally, the seaport cities have much to be worried about with respect to the future of American foreign trade, and New York City, like Baltimore, is no exception to the rule. There are some economic observers who think that the persons engaged in vast real estate enterprises of metropolitan New York with their skyscraper office buildings and vast army of "white collar" workers must sooner or later be affected by the fall in foreign trade or else join the movement for stimulating the export and import business of the United States.

It is quite customary for those who argue about foreign trade to look only at the actual figures of inflow and outflow of articles of merchandise, but officials here have insisted that the by-products of foreign trade should not be overlooked, extending as they do, not only to factories far removed from the sea coasts, but indirectly to the prosperity of seaport cities themselves, which, from colonial days, have thrived on the brokerage fees and transactions as well as other activities growing out of the world-wide exchange of goods and services.

Policies Under Fire
Secretary Hull's policies have been under fire from the extreme protectionists, and there is much doubtless to be said in favor of different methods of negotiating reciprocity agreements, but, on the basic idea of making reciprocal trade arrangements effective without submitting them to the logrolling and frustration of congressional committees, more and more Republicans are coming to realize that their 1936 Cleveland convention plank was a gross mistake and that its correction is essential if a large block of independent votes is to be won to the Republican standard.

Mr. Aldrich speaks not only as a business man, but as a conspicuous Republican, and, incidentally, he happens to be president of that all-important body of business men known as the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York. Not in many months has so strong an ally for Secretary Hull's policies come forth from the Republican

Producers Report Slight Increase In Steel Buying

Gains Spread Over Various Lines With Light Products Predominating

Slight improvement in buying of steel is noted by producers, the increase being well spread over various lines, light products predominating, says Steel.

Announcement of prices for second quarter without change has had some effect but it appears probable that other deterring factors must also be cleared up before any substantial advance in demand will be developed. Seasonal requirements are expected to give some impetus.

Leading steelmakers report sales during February 20 to 25 per cent above January. Immediate shipment generally is specified, indicating reserve stocks are low.

Following price announcement on steel, pig iron producers have reaffirmed the quotations for second quarter.

A reflection of the Far East situation is seen in reduction of price on tungsten high-speed tool steel from 80 to 67 cents per pound, following lower prices on tungsten, as shipments from China have increased.

Railroads find pressure for new equipment so insistent that a few orders for cars and locomotives, with some small rail tonnages, are coming out. This gives rise to expectation of considerable buying if freight rates are advanced.

Recede Half Point
Steelworks operations last week receded half a point to 30.5 per cent, with no indications of an important change this week. Pittsburgh lost 1 point to 28 per cent, Wheeling 6 points to 38 per cent, Cleveland 2 points to 31 and Detroit 5 points to 47. Cincinnati increased its rate 13 points to 35 per cent. There was no change at Chicago at 24.5 per cent, Eastern Pennsylvania at 30, Youngstown at 29, Buffalo at 21, Birmingham at 61, New England at 27 and St. Louis at 23.

Automobile assemblies sagged to 56.57, compared with 59.100 the week before. General Motors produced 21,950, against 21,550 the preceding week; Chrysler's output was 19,450, compared with 9850; Ford ranks to take his stand for removal of tariff barriers by negotiating of reciprocal trade agreements. (Copyright, 1938) dropped to 15,570 from 19,265. Other producers built 9067, compared with 8425.

January steel exports were 223,566 gross tons, 77,082 tons below December but close to the monthly average for 1936. Although steel ingots, pig iron and tin plate continued to lead in volume, each was considerably below the preceding month. Scrap shipments were 356,537 tons, considerably above December and also above the monthly average for 1937. European outlets took more than 230,000 tons of the total and Japan only 31,000 tons.

Little Scrap Buying
Continued weakness in scrap, with practically no buying and little material offered has resulted in a practical stalemate, quotations in many cases being nominal in the absence of transactions on which to base figures. Export buying, especially in the East, is almost the only support and this has become less recently. Until steel production gains a higher level there is no reason to expect the scrap market to move materially. Meanwhile most mills have fairly large accumulations and are inclined to buy only when bargains offer.

Slight weakening in the East last week caused Steel's composite of steelmaking scrap to decline 8 cents to $13.25. This is a loss of 65 cents during February. The same influence caused the iron and steel composite to drop 4 cents to $33.84. The finished steel composite remained unchanged at $61.70.

Steel's London cable indicates relaxation of tension in steel demand in Great Britain and also in export markets depending on the Continent. Great Britain's need for semirough steel is becoming less and import duties may be reimposed soon, after having been suspended during the period of shortages. The fixed quota for such imports is sufficient for current needs.

ed during the period of shortages. The fixed quota for such imports is sufficient for current needs.

POLYNESIAN TEMPLE
Papeete, Tahiti.—The ancient temple of Tapu Ta Puatea on the island of Raiatea, scene of human sacrifices in prehistoric times, is to be preserved under a decree by the president of France. The edict is intended to salvage all traces of ancient Polynesian culture in French Oceania.

The notes of J. M. Orsmond, an early missionary, recently edited by his granddaughter, Miss Teuira Henry, describe Tapu Ta Puatea as the most ancient of all royal "marae," or island temples.

Considerable damage has been done by trees growing through the temple masonry, but scientists say the structure can be restored.
